

5 Cities Named By Reds in Deal

Negotiators Are Still at Odds
on Prisoner
Exchange

Munsan, Korea, March 22 (P)—Truce negotiators virtually wrapped up an agreement on ports of entry today as the Communists turned over detailed maps of five North Korean cities through which they would funnel troops and supplies during an armistice.

An allied staff officer said the maps appeared to meet UN specifications and "looked in general to be following our pattern."

The maps showing exact areas in which neutral inspection teams would operate during a truce were flown to UN truce headquarters here for close study.

A second group of UN staff officers told the Communists their "new approach" to the prisoner exchange problem needed "a considerable amount of adjustment."

The Reds again made it clear they have no intention of abandoning the principle of forced repatriation of all war prisoners.

The UN command submitted maps of its five ports of entry Friday, but the Communists asked for another 24 hours to pinpoint dock areas, airports and other facilities in their ports to be checked by neutral inspectors.

UN staff officers made slight modifications in their maps overnight to conform to Communist requests.

The ports of entry were named Tuesday. Communist troops and supplies would move into North Korea through Sinuiju and Manpojin of the Yalu river border with Manchuria, Chongjin and Hungnam on the east coast and Sinanju, a rail junction in the northwest.

UN ports in South Korea would be Pusan and Kangnung on the east coast, Kusan and Incheon on the west coast and Taegu, an air base city in southeast Korea.

Col. George W. Hickman said Communist and UN staff officers working on prisoner exchange indicated that they wanted frank, full and informal talks.

Hickman added, however, that neither side suggested secret talks in an attempt to speed agreement.

The UN negotiator said he thought it might be helpful if the staff officers could let their hair down and exchange opinions without becoming involved in loud recriminations.

Two problems remain to be ironed out by negotiators working on truce supervision. They are Communist nomination of Soviet Russia to a neutral inspection commission and an allied demand for a ban on construction of military airfields in North Korea.

The issue of voluntary versus forced repatriation of war prisoners is the only major dispute blocking agreement on prisoner exchange.

Primary States Are Busy on Campaign Nomination Fights

Republicans Would Like to See Eisenhower and Taft Compromise
for Good of All

(By The Associated Press)
Presidential campaign skirmishing was most active today in upcoming primary states—Nebraska, Wisconsin and Illinois—but blasts and booms were echoing elsewhere.

Once around the country turns up these events:

Nebraska
The April 1 primary campaign got a shot in the arm with the arrival of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and announcement of a write-in drive for Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio.

Kefauver opposes Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma for the Democratic nomination.

Taft, seeking the Republican nomination, got a double boost. Omaha supporters announced plans for a Taft write-in campaign and a Lincoln group readied a program to teach voters how to cast write-in ballots.

Republican ballot entries: Former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota and Mrs. Mary Kenny of Lincoln, a supporter of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Illinois
Eisenhower backers announced in Chicago they will not sponsor a write-in campaign in the April 8 Illinois presidential preference primary. Their reason: the state GOP organization "has been steadily working" for Taft. Taft workers retorted: "Alibi."

New Jersey
Former Gov. Charles Edison, in a statement issued in New York, urged Eisenhower to disavow the "ill-advised" support of Gov. Alfred Driscoll. Edison, a Taft backer, said he cabled the appeal to the general. Taft withdrew from New Jersey's April 15 primary after Gov. Driscoll announced support of Eisenhower.

In Washington, D. C., Taft headquarters said the Ohio senator will ask formally that his name be stricken from the ballot.

New York City
A Republican congressman from Wisconsin suggested that Eisenhower and Taft get together on the GOP ticket "for the good of the party and . . . the country."

Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski told newsmen he thought Eisenhower would be the presidential nominee with Taft for vice president.

O'Konski boarded a liner for Europe, where he said he hopes to see Eisenhower.

Maine
A state convention of Democrats meets today to nominate a 10-vote national convention delegation, expected to be favorable to President but unpledged.

California
Democrats supporting President Truman decided to dissolve the Truman slate, leaving Kefauver the only avowed Democratic candidate in the state. Truman has his name withdrawn earlier this week.

Law to Stop Courts
Capetown, South Africa, March 22 (P)—Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan said last night his government intends to pass a new law barring the courts from knocking out any more of the anti-Negro legislation his party favors. A bill to put all parliamentary acts beyond the reach of courts will be introduced "as soon as possible," he said. His Nationalist party has a small but workable majority in Parliament.

Glad Adenauer Agrees
London, March 22 (P)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said today the three western powers are agreed on a reply to Russia's proposal for a German peace treaty conference. He gave no hint of the nature of the reply but said Britain, the United States and France were "glad to learn" West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer also was in full accord with the western powers.

Turk Loses Wallet
It sure is a let-down feeling to reach for your money to pay a bill and find it missing. It happened yesterday to Sam Turk of 300 Second Avenue, a local insurance company employee. Turk was shopping in a midtown market but when he reached into his jacket pocket to pay the cashier he found he was missing $60 in bills. Turk said that he lost the money between 5 and 5:30 p. m. To the best of his recollection he had a $20 bill, two tens, a five and some singles.

Driver Is Held
New York, March 22 (P)—The driver of the car involved in Thursday's fatal bus-auto crash in Queens was accused yesterday of criminal negligence. Bail for the driver, John De Angelis, 25, of Brooklyn, a bookkeeper, was set at $2,500. Two small children were killed when the bus and the car mounted the sidewalk. Their mother, her legs crushed, was critically injured and four other persons were hurt.

Company of Mrs. Oblatt
A companion of Mrs. Oblatt told police the dead woman had been very ill of a heart ailment. The blast ripped out chunks of concrete and wrecked apartments on both sides of the two-room Oblatt flat. Two of the neighbors said they were thrown to the floor by the blast, but no injuries were reported. There was no fire.

Ridgway Warns Against Soviet Plans in Japan

Tokyo, Saturday, March 22 (P)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway declared yesterday Japan's "greatest problem" was the threat of strong Russian military forces already assembled north of this island nation.

The supreme allied commander told a group of Japanese newspaper executives the Russians had completed the stationing of strong forces "including many fighter planes" at two points facing Japan.

One massing point was given as near Vladivostok, the big port and base in the Siberian maritime province. The other was on southern Sakhalin, formerly held by the Japanese. Sakhalin lies north of Japan.

The editors said Ridgway assured them he was "not upset" by unfavorable comment of some Japanese on the Japan-U. S. Security Pact.

Ridgway was quoted as saying the purpose of the Russian concentration was to generate fear, but adding that when fear is not enough the Communists use power.

The general then referred editors to the case of China, where the Communists have organized a powerful military machine. Yet 30 years ago China had no real military force.

Ridgway said there was evidence of the same methods in Japan. He pointed to Communist influence in labor unions, to Red infiltration into various organs of public opinion, and to the party cells organized for violence.

Ridgway said the Communists by these methods succeeded in building up the equivalent of a military organization.

"The sole purpose," Ridgway concluded, "of maintaining American garrison forces in Japan is nothing more nor less than to check the Russian threat to Japan."

Steel Industry Hits WSB Pay Hike Recommendations

Loughran Highest Paid Jurist Since
Dewey Raises Pay

Holds World's Record in His Field, Leads All
State Employees
With $40,000

An act of the state Legislature has made John T. Loughran of 12 John street, this city, chief judge of the State Court of Appeals, the highest paid jurist in the world and the highest paid official of New York state, John Mooney, legislative correspondent of The Knickerbocker News, of Albany, pointed out in Friday's issue of that newspaper.

The Legislature, acting on recommendation of Governor Dewey, raised the chief judge's salary to $35,000 a year, plus $5,000 for expenses, plus a car when he needs it.

Tops Dewey Himself
Thus, at $40,000 a year, Judge Loughran tops the $25,000 a year paid to Fred Vinson, chief judge of the United States. Judge Loughran's salary also tops the $25,000 salary of Governor Dewey, exclusive of expenses.

The governor and Legislature also raised the pay of the associate judges of the Court of Appeals from $28,000 a year each to $32,000. Their expense allowance was also raised to $5,000 a year, and each has the use of a state car when required.

Judge Loughran's former pay was $28,500, plus $3,000 for expenses.

Under Pressure
Mooney in his column commented that "our court of appeals justices are hard working, conscientious men, as all who know anything about the court, including barristers, will acknowledge. They labor under great mental pressure and each is reputed to pull his own oar to the satisfaction of the others."

Compelled to Join
Under a union shop, all steel workers would be compelled to join the union.

The Office of Price Stabilization said last week that, under the Capehart Amendment to the Defense Production Act, the steel industry might be entitled to a price increase of as much as $2 a ton.

The amendment, governing wages and prices, permits price adjustments for cost rises after the outbreak of the Korean war in June, 1950, to July, 1951.

Although the industry statement said steel would honor its commitments to consider the WSB proposal, the four board industry members in Washington last night (Continued on Page 10, Col. 7)

Was Freeman Reporter
Judge Loughran, who once worked as a reporter for The Freeman, was born in this city 63 years ago, and was educated at Kingston Academy and Fordham University. He was admitted to the bar on November 23, 1911, and practiced in this city until 1922. From that year until his election as a Supreme Court justice in 1930, he practiced law in New York city. From 1912 to 1930 he was a member of the law faculty of Fordham University.

Crackdown Is Threatened On Propaganda Against U. S.

Senators Accuse
Lattimore of Lies;
He Charges Attack

Contemptuous Conduct Is Cited by Committee;
Professor Declares
Hearing Unfair

Washington, March 22 (P)—Investigating senators accuse Owen Lattimore of telling "untruths" under oath and of contemptuous conduct. And he charges they made a "savage" and unfair attack on him.

Lattimore, Far Eastern affairs specialist and one-time occasion consultant to the State Department, was bitterly and unanimously denounced by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee late yesterday.

The barrage of criticism came as the group concluded weeks of stormy sessions at which Lattimore, a professor at Johns Hopkins University, underwent intensive questioning and swore he never has been a Communist or a Red sympathizer—as charged by other witnesses.

Called Defiant
On behalf of the seven-man subcommittee, Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) read a scathing 2,300-word statement accusing Lattimore of having been "flagrant" in his "outspokenly disconcerting" and "persistent in his efforts to confuse and obscure the facts. And then:

"That he has uttered untruths stands clear on the record."

Lattimore sat silently as McCarran read the long statement, then heard the chairman's gavel rap an end to the hearings. Just before McCarran started to read he asked the witness whether he had anything more to say. Lattimore said no.

Issues Statement
Lattimore put out a statement later saying:

"The conduct of these hearings, and Senator McCarran's summing up justify the rueful prediction I made in my opening statement that I could not expect a fair hearing."

In that opening statement on Feb. 26, Lattimore criticized the subcommittee just about as sharply as it did him at the wind-up.

Replying to the group last night, Lattimore said:

"Vigorous I was. Contemptuous I was not. I merely stood up to a savage and harassing examination, persisted in for so many days that it has, I am told, broken all congressional records."

Ferry Resumes Its Regular Schedule

The Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry resumed its regular schedule at 9 a. m., today after being docked all winter.

Repairs were completed on the boat while it was in dry dock recently and it received its final inspection just before resumption of schedule. It runs daily from 9 a. m. until 7 p. m.

44 Perish in Crash
Frankfurt, Germany, March 22 (P)—Forty-four persons perished today in the flaming wreckage of a royal Dutch (KLM) airliner in a Frankfurt suburb. It was West Germany's worst plane disaster since the war. Four of the 48 persons aboard escaped death, but two were hurt so badly they are not expected to survive. The death toll was announced by U. S. Air Force officials who helped direct rescue work. They said the plane, a four-engine DC-6 inbound from Rome on a flight from Johannesburg, was carrying 38 passengers and a crew of 10. A partial passenger list released in Rome carried the name of an American, John Bickford, but no address.

Prime Minister Dies
Ceylon, Colombo, March 22 (P)—Prime Minister Don Stephen Senanayake, 67, died today of brain injuries suffered yesterday in a fall from his horse. He never regained consciousness. The body is to be taken to Ceylon's parliament building Monday and will lie in state until Saturday. Senanayake, a staunch anti-Communist, was Ceylon's first and only prime minister, having held office since the country won independent dominion status in the British Commonwealth in 1948. He lay in a coma through the night, rallying slightly after his physicians had said he could not live until dawn.

21 Buildings Are Lost
In Alaska Fire Today

Wrangell, Alaska, March 22 (P)—Fire burned out 21 business buildings early today and threatened destruction of the one-street downtown section in this community of 1,200.

No casualties have been reported. The entire waterfront side of the street had been destroyed by 2 a. m. (5 a. m., EST), 3½ hours after the fire mushroomed from a hardware store.

Firemen said a boiler explosion was the apparent cause. Officials of the city, 800 miles north of Seattle, said the 21 razed buildings were more than half of those in the business area.

Every able bodied man in the town turned out to fight the flames along with a construction crew working on a high school project and men from the Wrangell station of the Alaska Communication System.

Cancer Meeting Is Scheduled March 26

The Ulster County Cancer Society will hold a campaign meeting at 7:30 Wednesday, March 26, in the library of the Tumor Clinic, it was announced today by Herman G. Rafalowsky, county chairman.

Campaign techniques will be discussed and materials will be made available to those attending, Rafalowsky said. He urged a large attendance "in order that we may have an inspiring meeting."

Gleich Is Fined $10 For Horse Cruelty; Trial Three Hours

West Hurley Man Found
Guilty of Starving 3
Animals Seized
by SPCA

Henry Adam Gleich, 28, of R.D. 1, West Hurley, was found guilty on a charge of failing to provide sustenance for his three horses and was fined $10 after a three and a half hour trial before Justice of the Peace Roger Loughran in Hurley town hall Friday night.

In addition to the fine, Justice Loughran imposed a 10-day jail sentence which was suspended.

The horses, meanwhile, were seized Thursday night by the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, state police reported.

Second Offense
Gleich was arrested on a warrant obtained by SPCA Agent Ray Winne and executed by Trooper E. J. Devine of the Kingston state police sub-station. About three weeks ago, Gleich pleaded guilty to a similar charge and was told to take proper care of the horses. Last night's trial followed Winne's allegation that Gleich did not comply with those instructions.

Sherwood E. Davis and Thomas Saccamano, attorneys, appeared for the people during the trial, while Gleich was represented by Attorney William Kaercher.

Testimony was offered by Mrs. Herbert Cutler, of Kingston, president of the county SPCA chapter, who said she visited the stables and found them a "disgusting mess."

Said Horses Ate Wood
Leon Smith of Saugerties, a SPCA director, said he found the horses eating wood. Thomas J. Plunkett, director and corresponding secretary of the chapter; Ray Winne, special agent; Edward Raggaman, of West New York, N. J., and Louis Basch of Hurley were among others who testified.

Gleich, his brother and wife offered defense testimony as to the care of the animals and exhibited several feed bills dating back to February.

Silent on Ike
Washington, March 22 (P)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther flew in today from headquarters of the allied powers in Europe, bringing reports of improvement in European defense against communism but no news on when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower may come home.

Gruenther, chief of staff in Eisenhower's command of the military forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) is here for testimony to congressional committees. He was invited to testify on President Truman's request for $7,900,000,000 in mutual security funds.

Merchants to Tackle
Bus Problem March 26

A meeting of the Kingston Merchants Association has been called for Wednesday, March 26, at 9 a. m., in the Standard Furniture Company store, Fair street, to take up curtailment of bus service in Kingston.

The Kingston City Transportation Corporation has made application to the Public Service Commission for leave to permanently discontinue the "Lucas avenue" line and also the Wilbur line.

At the meeting a slate of officers for the ensuing year will also be presented and there will be election of officers for the coming year. Jay Melton is president of the Association and Charles Fabiano, secretary-treasurer.

Morris Insists Subpoena Powers Necessary Tools

New York, March 22 (P)—Newbold Morris says subpoena powers constitute an "indispensable tool" and that he is making a personal plea to win senators and congressmen to win the subpoena power.

The Senate Judiciary Committee denied him the powers recently.

Morris, probing corruption in government, told newsmen here yesterday that he is trying in personal contacts with leaders of Congress "to make them realize how important this tool is."

He said he originally expected to wind up his investigation by August but that now he believes it will last until the end of the year.

Morris was interviewed at La Guardia Field upon his arrival here from Washington to spend the weekend with his family.

State Department Takes Action Against Red Embassies

Washington, March 22 (P)—The State Department today threatened more crackdowns on Iron Curtain embassies and legations in this country which distribute abusive propaganda against the United States.

Department informants said the shutdown yesterday of a magazine published by the Polish Embassy was intended partly as a warning to other Red governments.

Behind the American attitude appears the basic policy belief that the maintenance of U. S. diplomatic missions behind the Iron Curtain is desirable—but not at any price.

Secretary of State Acheson ordered the Polish Embassy to cease publishing its magazine, "Poland Today," which comes out every two months, and to issue no more press releases the State Department considers improper.

Dealt With Massacre
In his rebuke to Ambassador Jozef Wlodek, Acheson indicated further decisive steps would be taken if the order is not followed.

The American protest was against violent denunciation of this country's hearing on the Katyn Massacre, which the Polish magazine called "a farce."

A congressional committee headed by Rep. Madden (D-Ind.) is inquiring into the slaying of some 10,000 Polish officers in the Katyn Forest near Smolensk, Russia, during World War 2. The Russians have accused Nazi soldiers of the slayings. The Germans blame Soviet troops and evidence presented to the committee so far substantiates this view. Russia turned down an invitation to present its side to the committee.

Accuses U. S. of Murder
The Polish magazine linked its complaint about the anti-Soviet evidence in the hearing to a denunciation of the U. S., which it said was perpetrating Nazi-type propaganda. The blast, tied in with Communist claims of United Nations atrocities in Korea, virtually accused this country of murdering "children and women" there.

Acheson called the articles "abusive" and said it went beyond the limits of propriety for an embassy document. He called it propaganda which contained untrue charges against the United States.

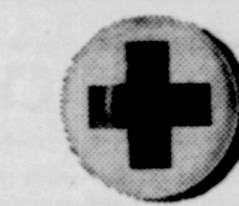

In addition to rebuking the Polish embassy and placing other Red diplomats on warning, informants said, the State Department also intends to reduce Polish activity here to about the same level as permitted the U. S. in Poland.

The principle of reciprocity, thus applied, could some day result in virtual elimination of American contacts with Iron Curtain countries.

Thousands Homeless
as Strong Winds
Sweep Land, Cold
Adds to Suffering

Little Rock, Ark., March 22 (P)—Spring tornadoes scattered death, destruction and untold suffering across four southern states yesterday and last night. The number of reported dead stood at 175 early today.

More than 1,000 other persons were injured and still more were without homes in the wake of the terrific, twisting winds in Arkansas, Tennessee, Missouri and Mississippi.

5 Cities Named By Reds in Deal

Negotiators Are Still at Odds on Prisoner Exchange

Munsan, Korea, March 22 (AP)—Truce negotiators virtually wrapped up an agreement on ports of entry today as the Communists turned over detailed maps of five North Korean cities through which they would funnel troops and supplies during an armistice.

An allied staff officer said the maps appeared to meet UN specifications and "looked in general to be following our pattern."

The maps showing exact areas in which neutral inspection teams would operate during a truce were flown to UN truce headquarters here for close study.

A second group of UN staff officers told the Communists their "new approach" to the prisoner exchange problem needed "a considerable amount of adjustment."

The Reds again made it clear they have no intention of abandoning the principle of forced repatriation of all war prisoners.

The UN command submitted maps of its five ports of entry Friday, but the Communists asked for another 24 hours to pinpoint dock areas, airports and other facilities in their ports to be checked by neutral inspectors.

UN staff officers made slight modifications in their maps overnight to conform to Communist requests.

The ports of entry were named Tuesday. Communist troops and supplies would move into North Korea through Sinuiju and Manpojin on the Yalu river border with Manchuria, Chongjin and Hungnam on the east coast and Sinanju, a rail junction in the northwest.

The UN ports in South Korea would be Pusan and Kangnung on the east coast, Kunsan and Incheon on the west coast and Taegu, an air base city in southeast Korea.

Col. George W. Hickman said Communist and UN staff officers working on prisoner exchange indicated that they wanted frank, full and informal talks.

Hickman added, however, that neither side suggested secret talks in an attempt to speed agreement.

UN negotiator said he thought it might be helpful if the staff officers could let their hair down and exchange opinions without becoming involved in loud recriminations.

Two problems remain to be ironed out by negotiators working on truce supervision. They are Communist nomination of Soviet Russia to a neutral inspection commission and an allied demand for a ban on construction of military airfields in North Korea.

5th Air Force Reports Most Successful Week

Seoul, Korea, March 22 (AP)—U. S. jet planes outnumbered 31 to 75, hit three Communist MIGs in a swirling air battle over northwestern Korea late Friday, claiming one of their most successful weeks of the air war, the U. S. Fifth Air Force reported today.

After a 30-minute battle high over Sinanju American F-86 Sabre jet pilots claimed one Communist MIG-15 probably destroyed and two others damaged.

During the week ended Friday UN pilots destroyed nine Russian-built fighters, probably destroyed three and damaged 26.

Only four planes of the Fifth Air Force were lost—one in air combat, two to Red ground fire and one for an unknown reason.

F-84 Thunderjet fighter-bombers made a few close support strikes against Red front line positions on the east coast. They destroyed bunkers, trenches and three Red-occupied buildings. F-51 Mustangs of the South Korean Air Force attacked Red rail lines.

New Jersey
Former Gov. Charles Edison, in a statement issued in New York, urged Eisenhower to disavow the "ill-advised" support of Gov. Alfred Driscoll. Edison, a Taft backer, said he cabled the appeal to the general. Taft withdrew from New Jersey's April 15 primary after Gov. Driscoll announced support of Eisenhower.

In Washington, D. C., Taft headquarters said the Ohio senator will ask formally that his name be stricken from the ballot.

New York City
A Republican congressman from Wisconsin suggested that Eisenhower and Taft get together on the GOP ticket "for the good of the party and . . . the country."

Rep. Alvin E. O'Connell told newsmen he thought Eisenhower should be the presidential nominee with Taft for vice president.

O'Connell boarded a liner for Europe, where he said he hopes to see Eisenhower.

Law to Stop Courts
Capetown, South Africa, March 22 (AP)—Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan said last night his government intends to pass a new law barring the courts from knocking out any more of the anti-Negro legislation his party favors. A bill to put all parliamentary acts beyond the reach of courts will be introduced "as soon as possible," he said. His Nationalist party has a small but workable majority in Parliament.

Glad Adenauer Agrees
London, March 22 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said today the three western powers are agreed on a reply to Russia's proposal for a German peace treaty conference. He gave no hint of the nature of the reply but said Britain, the United States and France were "glad to learn" West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer also was in full accord with the western powers.

Ridgway Warns Against Soviet Plans in Japan

Tokyo, Saturday, March 22 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway declared yesterday Japan's "greatest problem" was the threat of strong Russian military forces already assembled north of this island nation.

The supreme allied commander told a group of Japanese newspaper executives the Russians had completed the stationing of strong forces "including many fighter planes" at two points facing Japan.

One massing point was given as near Vladivostok, the big port and base in the Siberian maritime province. The other was on southern Sakhalin, formerly held by the Japanese. Sakhalin lies north of Japan.

The editors said Ridgway assured them he was "not upset" by unfavorable comment of some Japanese on the Japan-U. S. Security Pact.

Ridgway was quoted as saying the purpose of the Russian concentration was to generate fear, but adding that when fear is not enough the Communists use power.

The general then referred editors to the case of China, where the Communists have organized a powerful military machine. Yet 30 years ago China had no real military force.

Ridgway said there was evidence of the same methods in Japan. He pointed to Communist influence in labor unions, to Red infiltration into various organs of public opinion, and to the party cells organized for violence.

Ridgway said the Communists by these methods succeeded in building up the equivalent of a military organization.

"The sole purpose," Ridgway concluded, "of maintaining American garrison forces in Japan is nothing more nor less than to check the Russian threat to Japan."

Steel Industry Hits WSB Pay Hike Recommendations

Loughran Highest Paid Jurist Since Dewey Raises Pay

Washington, March 22 (AP)—The steel industry has assailed the Wage Stabilization Board pay rise recommendations for CIO steelworkers.

In a hot denunciation yesterday of the board's proposal for a basic 17½ cent-an-hour wage raise plus such a wage hike would increase prices as much as $10 a ton.

Federal Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam, after a stormy session with top steel executives, hurriedly put in a call to Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson.

Wilson flew from Washington to New York, met briefly with the steel company leaders, and returned to the nation's capital. There was no immediate comment on the conference.

Later, the industry executives released a strong statement. They attacked the wage proposals which, besides the 17½ cent hourly increase, includes other improvements estimated to be worth an additional five cents an hour.

Sees Cost at Billion
The proposed wage rates, the statement said, would "increase the direct employment costs of the steel companies by about 30 cents per employee hour" and would cost the industry a billion dollars a year.

Terming the union shop recommendation "a long step backward in the struggle for individual freedom," the statement added: "It is inconceivable how the board could have made recommendations . . . which would be less in the public interest or more disruptive of the economy . . ."

The recommendations go far beyond the board's existing regulations and would, if complied with, completely wreck the government's stabilization program."

Compelled to Join
Under a union shop, all steel workers would be compelled to join the union.

The Office of Price Stabilization said last week that, under the Defense Production Act, the steel industry might be entitled to a price increase of as much as $2 a ton.

The amendment, governing wages and prices, permits price adjustments for cost rises after the outbreak of the Korean war in June, 1950, to July, 1951.

Although the industry statement said steel would honor its commitments to consider the WSB proposal, the four board industry members in Washington last night (Continued on Page 10, Col. 7)

175 Die in Southern Tornado, Damage Runs Into Millions; Three Other States Warned

Crackdown Is Threatened On Propaganda Against U. S.

Senators Accuse Lattimore of Lies; He Charges Attack

Contemptuous Conduct Is Cited by Committee; Professor Declares Hearing Unfair

Washington, March 22 (AP)—Investigating senators accuse Owen Lattimore of telling "untruths" under oath and of contemptuous conduct. And he charges they made a "savage" and unfair attack on him.

Lattimore, far Eastern affairs specialist and one-time occasional consultant to the State Department, was bitterly and unanimously denounced by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee late yesterday.

The barrage of criticism came as the group concluded weeks of stormy sessions at which Lattimore, a professor at Johns Hopkins University, underwent intensive questioning and swore he never has been a Communist or a Red sympathizer—as charged by other witnesses.

Called Defiant
On behalf of the seven-man subcommittee, Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) read a scathing 2,300-word statement accusing Lattimore of having been "flagrantly defiant," "outspokenly discourteous" and "persistent in his efforts to confuse and obscure the facts."

"That he has uttered untruths stands clear on the record," Lattimore sat silently as McCarran read the long statement, then heard the chairman's gavel rap an end to the hearings. Just before McCarran started to read he asked the witness whether he had anything more to say. Lattimore said no.

Issues Statement
Lattimore put out a statement later saying: "The conduct of these hearings, and Senator McCarran's summing up, justify the rueful prediction I made in my opening statement that I could not expect a fair hearing."

In that opening statement on Feb. 26, Lattimore criticized the subcommittee just about as sharply as it did him at the wind-up.

Replying to the group last night, Lattimore said: "Vigorous I was. Contemptuous I was not. I merely stood up to a savage and harassing examination, persisted in for so many days that I, as I am told, broken all congressional records."

44 Perish in Crash

Frankfurt, Germany, March 22 (AP)—Forty-four persons perished today in the flaming wreckage of a royal Dutch (KLM) airliner in a Frankfurt suburb. It was West Germany's worst plane disaster since the war. Four of the 48 persons aboard escaped death, but two were hurt so badly they are not expected to survive. The death toll was announced by U. S. Air Force officials who helped direct rescue work. They said the plane, a four-engine DC-6 inbound from Rome on a flight from Johannesburg, was carrying 38 passengers and a crew of 10. A partial passenger list released in Rome carried the name of an American, John Bickford, but no address.

Prime Minister Dies

Ceylon, Colombo, March 22 (AP)—Prime Minister Don Stephen Senanayake, 67, died today of brain injuries suffered yesterday in a fall from his horse. He never regained consciousness. The body is to be taken to Ceylon's parliament building Monday and will lie in state until Saturday. Senanayake, a staunch anti-Communist, was Ceylon's first and only prime minister, having held office since the country won independent dominion status in the British Commonwealth in 1948. He lay in a coma through the night, rallying slightly after his physicians had said he could not live until dawn.

Gleich Is Fined $10 For Horse Cruelty; Trial Three Hours

West Hurley Man Found Guilty of Starving 3 Animals Seized by SPCA

Henry Adam Gleich, 28, of R.D. 1, West Hurley, was found guilty on a charge of failing to provide sustenance for his three horses and was fined $10 after a three and a half hour trial before Justice of the Peace Roger Loughran in Hurley town hall Friday night.

In addition to the fine, Justice Loughran imposed a 10-day jail sentence which was suspended.

The horses, meanwhile, were seized Thursday night by the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, state police reported.

Second Offense
Gleich was arrested on a warrant obtained by SPCA Agent Ray Winne and executed by Trooper E. J. Devine of the Kingston state police sub-station. About three weeks ago, Gleich pleaded guilty to a similar charge and was told to take proper care of the horses. Last night's trial followed Winne's allegation that Gleich did not comply with those instructions.

Sherwood E. Davis and Thomas Saccaman, attorneys, appeared for the people during the trial, while Gleich was represented by Attorney William Kaercher.

Testimony was offered by Mrs. Herbert Cutler, of Kingston, president of the county SPCA chapter, who said she visited the stables and found them a "disgusting mess."

Seized Horses Ate Wood
Leon Smith of Saugerties, a SPCA director, said he found the horses eating wood. Thomas J. Plunkett, director and corresponding secretary of the chapter; Ray Winne, special agent; Edward Raggerman, of West New York, N. J., and Louis Basch of Hurley were among others who testified.

Gleich, his brother and wife offered defense testimony as to the care of the animals and exhibited several feed bills dating back to February.

Silent on Ike

Washington, March 22 (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther flew in today from headquarters of the allied powers in Europe, bringing reports of improvement in European defense against communism but no news on when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower may come home.

Gruenther, chief of staff in Eisenhower's command of the military forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), is here for testimony to congressional committees. He was invited to testify on President Truman's request for $7,900,000,000 in mutual security funds.

State Department Takes Action Against Red Embassies

Washington, March 22 (AP)—The State Department today threatened more crackdowns on Iron Curtain embassies and legations in this country which distribute abusive propaganda against the United States.

Department informants said the shutdown yesterday of a magazine published by the Polish Embassy was intended partly as a warning to other Red governments.

Behind the American attitude appears the basic policy belief that the maintenance of U. S. diplomatic missions behind the Iron Curtain is desirable—but not at any price.

Secretary of State Acheson ordered the Polish Embassy to cease publishing its magazine, "Poland Today," which comes out every two months, and to issue no more press releases the State Department considers improper.

Dealt With Massacre
In his rebuke to Ambassador Jozef Winiewicz, Acheson indicated further decisive steps would be taken if the order is not followed.

The American protest was against violent denunciation of this country's hearing on the Katyn Massacre, which the Polish magazine called "a farce."

A congressional committee headed by Rep. Madden (D-Ind.) is inquiring into the slaying of some 10,000 Polish officers in the Katyn Forest near Smolensk, Russia, during World War 2. The Russians have accused Nazi soldiers of the slayings. The Germans blame Soviet troops and evidence presented to the committee so far substantiates this view. Russia turned down an invitation to present its side to the committee.

Accuses U. S. of Murder
The Polish magazine linked its complaint about the anti-Soviet evidence in the hearing to a denunciation of the U. S., which it said was perpetrating "Nazi-type propaganda. The blast, tied in with Communist claims of United Nations atrocities in Korea, virtually accused this country of murdering "children and women" there.

Acheson called the articles "abusive" and said it went beyond the limits of propriety for an embassy document. He called it propaganda which contained untrue charges against the United States.

In addition to rebuking the Polish embassy and placing other Red diplomats on warning, informants said, the State Department also intends to reduce Polish activity here to about the same level as permitted the U. S. in Poland.

The principle of reciprocity, thus applied, could some day result in virtual elimination of American contacts with Iron Curtain countries.

Morris Insists Subpoena Powers Necessary Tools

New York, March 22 (AP)—Newbold Morris says subpoena powers constitute an "indispensable tool" and that he is making a personal plea to win senators and congressmen to this viewpoint.

The Senate Judiciary Committee denied him the powers recently. Morris, probing corruption in government, told newsmen here yesterday that he is trying in personal contacts with leaders of Congress "to make them realize how important this tool is."

He said he originally expected to wind up his investigation by August but that now he believes it will last until the end of the year. Morris was interviewed at La Guardia Field upon his arrival here from Washington to spend the weekend with his family.

Thousands Homeless as Strong Winds Sweep Land, Cold Adds to Suffering

Cattle Killed

Kentucky, Virginias, Tennessee, Alabama Warned

Washington, March 22 (AP)—The Weather Bureau said today tornadoes may hit new areas in Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama this afternoon, reaching western parts of Virginia and West Virginia tonight.

Wind of Death
Little Rock, Ark., March 22 (AP)—Spring tornadoes scattered death, destruction and untold suffering across four southern states yesterday and last night. The number of reported dead stood at 175 early today.

More than 1,000 other persons were injured and still more were without homes in the wake of the terrific, twisting winds in Arkansas, Tennessee, Missouri and Mississippi.

Property damage and livestock losses were tremendously heavy and probably will run into millions of dollars.

Rain and colder weather was forecast for much of the devastated area today adding to the misery of the homeless and the relief workers.

Casualty Toll Climbs
The casualty toll was almost certain to climb as rescue operations were expanded at daylight in scores of wrecked communities.

The dead in Arkansas alone was figured at 123 by the Arkansas Gazette, which based its estimate on reports from its staffers and correspondents. An area-by-area checklist compiled by the Associated Press showed 103 dead in Arkansas.

Fifteen persons were reported dead and 66 injured in the Caithersville area of southeast Missouri. West Tennessee counted 30 dead and north Mississippi reported seven killed.

Ham Operators Help
With ordinary means of communications disrupted, ham radio operators aided in getting messages into and from the stricken areas.

About 50 rural homes were reported smashed along a 10 to 12 mile stretch in the Missouri area. From almost every point at which the black funneling winds struck in the four-state area came reports of heavy damages and numerous casualties.

The storms, forecast by the U. S. Weather Bureau, swirled a deadly trail from southwest Arkansas to the state's northeast tip.

Hardest hit was the famous strawberry producing area of White county, Ark., where 62 dead were counted. The towns of Judsonia and Bald Knob, about 50 miles northeast of Little Rock, were practically leveled. The only (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

New York Gas Blast Sends Some to Air Raid Shelters

New York, March 22 (AP)—A gas blast in midtown Manhattan, at busy Columbus Circle, created a bomb scare last night and sent some persons scurrying for air raid shelters.

An invalid 72-year-old woman died in the explosion.

Police said the woman, Mrs. Regina Oblatt, 72, apparently committed suicide by leaving on all five jets of her kitchen stove.

Something—police did not know what—touched off the illuminating gas.

Windows were smashed in nearby buildings overlooking Central Park. The explosion was heard a mile away. Tenants in nearby buildings ran to "bomb shelters."

Pedestrians gathered in excited groups. Fire and police squads rushed to the Circle as crowds gathered.

A companion of Mrs. Oblatt told police the dead woman had been very ill of a heart ailment.

The blast ripped out chunks of concrete and wrecked apartments on both sides of the two-room Oblatt flat. Two of the neighbors said they were thrown to the floor by the blast, but no injuries were reported. There was no fire,

Called the "one great hour of sharing," the annual campaign is one of the major sources of support of church foreign mission relief work.

The drive began March 16 and reaches its climax tomorrow. CWS is a part of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

Lenten Speaker

DR. FRED HOLLOWAY

The fourth service in the annual union Lenten series, under the sponsorship of the uptown Protestant churches, will be held Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at St. James Methodist Church. The Rev. Dr. Fred G. Holloway, president of Drew University, Madison, N. J., will deliver the sermon.

Dr. Holloway was born in Newark, N. J. He received his college education at Western Maryland College, graduating there with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1918. Drew Theological Seminary in Madison, N. J., conferred the degree of Bachelor of Divinity upon him in 1921. He received the honorary Doctor of Divinity from Western Maryland College in 1936.

Dr. Holloway brings to the congregation the fruit of many years of experience in the Christian ministry. From 1921-23, he served as minister of the First Methodist Church in Wilmington, Del.; from 1923 to 1926 he served as pastor of the Wilton Heights Church in Baltimore and from 1926 to 1929 he served in the same capacity to the Methodist Church in Cherrydale, Va. From 1927 to 1935 he was professor of Biblical Languages at Westminster Theological Seminary and was made president of the seminary in 1932. He became president of Western Maryland College in 1935 and president of Drew University in Madison, N. J., in 1947.

Dr. Holloway has been a member of the last two general conferences of the Methodist Church. At the present, he is a member of that church's Commission on Rituals and Orders of Worship and of the Commission on Chaplains.

The Rev. Dr. Houston, pastor of the host church, will conduct the service assisted by the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, minister of the Fair Street Reformed Church. The public is cordially invited to worship at this interdenominational service.

Paltz Methodists Plan Lenten Movie Sunday

The third Sunday Lenten service to be held at the New Paltz Methodist Church Sunday at 7:30 p. m. will feature the film, Reaching From Heaven.

This motion picture produced by the Lutheran Church is reported to be most helpful and inspirational in this season of Lent. Reviewers say "it is an inspiring story of people whose lives are strengthened through faith in God, an injured stranger befriended by church members, a hard, cold business man scoffing at the Golden Rule only to regret it when his daughter runs away, a congregation shocked into an evangelistic program."

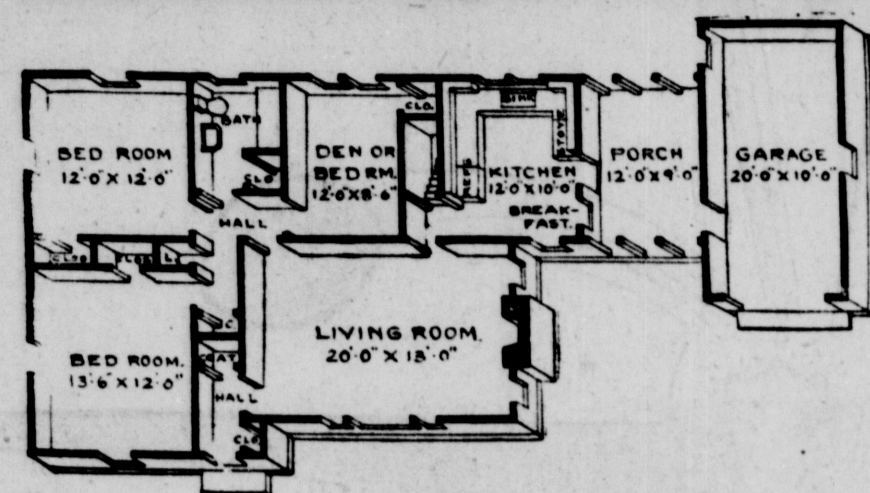

The review added, "this picture carries a great lesson—God uses ordinary people to accomplish His purpose in the lives of others. Drama, humor and pathos are skillfully interwoven throughout the film."

All members of the church and friends are invited.

Religious Radio Programs

Presented as a public service by Station WKNY, in cooperation with the Kingston Ministerial Association, the morning devotions each day, except Sunday, of next week, at 8:20, will have the following ministers officiating as indicated: Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church; Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, the Rev. Frederick W. A. Sawitzky, pastor of the Mt. Marion and High Woods Reformed Churches.

THE YOUNGDALE

A Ranch-Type Cape Cod

Rooms ..... Five
Bedrooms ..... Three
Closets ..... Eight
Cubage:

House ..... 18,300 ft.
Garage ..... 5,000 ft.
Dimensions ..... 34'x62'

If you decide to build "The Youngdale" on a limited budget, you can easily leave off the porch and garage, and construct them at some later date. This house also will be economical to maintain because, as with all one story homes, you'll be able to easily take care of repair and paint jobs yourself if you so desire.

Although there are no architectural "frills" to dress up the exterior of "The Youngdale," it does have a most attractive appearance because of the very simplicity of its design. The many windows and the wide outside chimney contribute to the exterior charms of the house; for added warmth and brightness use the vari-colored asphalt shingles for the roof. Simple landscaping will, of course, be most suitable for "The Youngdale."

Three steps lead up to the little porchway before the front entrance. The front door opens on a sizeable hallway that contains two coat closets. Located in the right wall, the smaller of these closets could be used for hanging up visitors' hats, coats, etc. The larger closet, in the back wall, would make a good storage spot for your family's umbrellas, rubbers, boots, raincoats, etc.

Spacious Living Room
An open archway in the right wall leads to the 20'x13' living room. Of spacious proportions, this room is designed to provide both living and dining area. If desired, the large window (flanked by narrower windows) in the front wall, and the fireplace centered in the right wall, are the decorative highlights of the room. Plan your color scheme and overall room arrangement around these decorative features.

Two windows, flanking the fireplace, provide additional light and ventilation for the room; help to make that section of the room much more attractive. If you wish to place your television set in the living room, against the unbroken section of the left wall is the suggested location. Put the dining room set near the right back corner of the room where it will be nearest to the kitchen; you'll receive extra light through the back window in the right wall and will also be able to enjoy the fireplace while partaking of a leisurely meal.

Measuring 12'x10' in dimensions, the kitchen is carefully planned to save the busy housewife's steps and make kitchen tasks as easy and pleasant as possible. Working counters, and storage cupboards and cabinets are arranged in a U along the left, back and right walls. The refrigerator is at the left end of counters; the stove at the right end and the sink is in the middle, under the double windows in the back wall of the room.

Kitchen Well Planned

Actually, stove, sink and refrigerator are but a few steps from each other. Also, but a short distance away is the breakfast nook, in the right front corner of the room. Receiving extra light and ventilation from the window in the right wall looking out on the connecting porchway, and from the window facing the front yard, the nook is of a convenient size—large enough to hold the average breakfast set.

The door in the right kitchen wall leads to the connecting porchway which is 12' by 9'. This porch can be screened or glassed in and used as an extra room, or it can be left open if you prefer. Whatever the use decided for this porchway, you'll appreciate the protected entrance and exit it provides for the 20'x10' garage.

Two bedrooms, the den or bedroom, and the bath occupy the left half of "The Youngdale." A hallway leading from the door in the back wall of the living room connects with these rooms.

Measuring 12'x8'6", the den or bedroom is well lighted and ventilated by the double window in the back wall. The closet in the right wall will be put to good use whether you decide to have this room serve as a bedroom or as a den. Bookshelves could easily be installed along the front wall of the room if you want it to be a combination den-library. If the room is to serve as both a regular and guest bedroom for the small fry, you can have bunk beds installed along the long left wall.

Windows in the left and back walls guarantee good light and ventilation for the 12 foot square bedroom. This room has a large clothes closet. So does the 13'6" x 12' front bedroom. This larger bedroom, designed to serve as the master bedroom, also enjoys cross ventilation and good lighting.

Opening on the connecting hallway, the linen closet is placed between the two bedrooms. Another closet, back to the coat closet, in the entry hall, also opens on this connecting hallway.

Placed between the den or bedroom and the back bedroom, the bath is thoroughly modern; contains both a tub and a shower and is amply lighted and ventilated by the one window in its back wall. The spacious closet in the right bathroom wall can be used for any one of a multitude of storage purposes.

When to Stop Is Vital Point In Remodeling

"Remodel an old house, if you don't have to make too many structural changes." That's the advice of housing experts who point out that the commonest fault of remodelers is not knowing when to stop.

Using a 50-year-old house as an example, the experts recommend four basic changes. First, rewire the house completely for fire protection; second, install space heaters to avoid costly duct work; third, finish off the attic for needed living space; and fourth, cover old plaster walls rather than try to refinish them.

Jobs for Experts

Rewiring a house and installing a heating system are jobs for the experts. With easy-to-use building materials available again, it is relatively simple for the home owner to add an extra attic room or to cover damaged ceilings.

One of the modern materials being used widely on these remodeling jobs is structural insulating board. Since this product is both a building material and an insulation, the home owner can use it to build walls and ceilings while insulating against summer heat and winter cold.

Another advantage of using insulating board is that it eliminates the expense of decorating because the product is obtainable in various factory finishes. Insulating boards come in large 4-foot sheets as well as long, narrow planks and rectangular or square tiles.

Plantings Should Add To Beauty of House

Planting about a house, whether a brand new one or old, should be planned to add to the beauty of the building. It should present an attractive picture, viewed from the street.

If tall trees dwarf the house and overgrown shrubs and evergreens hide it, and prevent occupants from seeing out windows, the planting has failed to achieve its purpose.

Examples of such failures are frequently given by modern one-story homes planted with shrubs and evergreens which have long been conventional materials to use about two-story homes with high basements.

One-story houses, with the main floor little higher than ground level, demand a different treatment by which they will not be made to seem lower, but broader, an effect achieved by emphasizing the horizontal line.

Only low-growing shrubs and plants should be planted in front of low homes. Visit the nurseries, ask lots of questions, and study for the proper materials to plant. If landscaping is handled right, it will last for 20 years or more, asking only for routine pruning and spraying each season.

Patching Concrete

Small cracks in concrete can be patched with roofing compound. This is effective although it doesn't look very nice.

12 Bulbs Per Capita

Consumption of all types of electric light bulbs in the United States last year was 12 per capita.

Careful Planning Of New Dwelling Will Shave Cost

To build a home of minimum cost that will meet the needs of the family requires careful planning. According to the Housing and Home Finance Agency, the house must provide for the minimum needs of the family without overcrowding; most houses should be planned for possible future expansion, and adequate storage space should be provided.

Eliminating the basement and erecting the house on concrete slab saves in construction cost. The slab serves as a subfloor and obviates the expense of excavation and deep foundation walls. In the basementless home, a well-planned utility room should be provided for storage space and the equipment usually located in a basement.

Walls and roof represent about 20 per cent of the cost of a house, and to achieve possible savings care should be used in selection of materials for their construction. Bathroom and kitchen in back-to-back positions in a one-story house should produce a saving. In a two-story house, the bath should be placed directly above the kitchen to take advantage of a single plumbing stack.

Grass Clipping Mulch

Grass clippings are an asset to the lawn. They form a mulch that retains moisture and discourages crab-grass. As they decay, they provide food for the grass plants. Actually, it is necessary to remove the clippings only when there is danger of smothering the turf grasses. This situation usually occurs after delayed mowing has permitted excessive growth. Bentgrass lawns may require removal of clippings.

Good Earth Getting Thin

In the days of Myles Standish, America had about nine inches of topsoil. Now the nation's topsoil averages only about six inches because of erosion and the removal of organic matter.

Storage Space Vital in Home

There should be ample storage space in a home in order to adequately provide for the proper keeping of articles not in immediate use.

Bedroom or coat closets should chiefly for hanging space should be not less than one foot 10 inches in depth. Linen closets should be about 16 to 18 inches in depth.

While it is impossible to fix a rule for the amount of closet space that will be universally applicable, it is advisable to have at least one closet for every bedroom, a closet for linen, and one in which to hang hats and coats. Outer garments are sometimes damp; consequently, the coat closet should be near the entrance door so that water and mud are not spread through the dwelling.

This motion picture produced by the Lutheran Church is reported to be most helpful and inspirational in this season of Lent.

Reviewers say "it is an inspiring story of people whose lives are strengthened through faith in God, an injured stranger befriended by church members, a hard, cold business man scoffing at the Golden Rule only to regret it when his daughter runs away, a congregation shocked into an evangelistic program."

The review added, "this picture carries a great lesson—God uses ordinary people to accomplish His purpose in the lives of others. Drama, humor and pathos are skillfully interwoven throughout the film."

All members of the church and friends are invited.

THE YOUNGDALE

A Ranch-Type Cape Cod

Rooms ..... Three Bedrooms ..... Five
Bathrooms ..... Eight
Closets ..... Eight
Cubage:

House ..... 18,300 ft.
Garage ..... 5,000 ft.
Dimensions ..... 34'x62'

If you decide to build "The Youngdale" on a limited budget, you can easily leave off the porch and garage, and construct them at some later date. This house also will be economical to maintain because, as with all one story homes, you'll be able to easily take care of repair and paint jobs yourself if you so desire.

Although there are no architectural "frills" to dress up the exterior of "The Youngdale," it does have a most attractive appearance because of the very simplicity of its design. The many windows and the wide outside chimney contribute to the exterior charms of the house; for added warmth and brightness use the varicolored asphalt shingles for the roof. Simple landscaping will, of course, be most suitable for "The Youngdale."

Three steps lead up to the little porchway before the front entrance. The front door opens on a sizeable hallway that contains two coat closets. Located in the right wall, the smaller of these closets could be used for hanging up visitors' hats, coats, etc.

The larger closet, in the back wall, would make a good storage spot for your family's umbrellas, rubbers, boots, raincoats, etc.

Spacious Living Room

An open archway in the right wall leads to the 20'x13' living room. Of spacious proportions, this room is designed to provide both living and dining areas if desired. The large window (flanked by narrower windows) in the front wall, and the fireplace centered in the right wall, are the decorative highlights of the room. Plan your color scheme and overall room arrangement around these decorative features.

Two windows, flanking the fireplace, provide additional light and ventilation for the room; help to make that section of the room much more attractive. If you wish to place your television set in the living room, against the unbroken section of the left wall is the suggested location. Put the dining room set near the right back corner of the room where it will be nearest to the kitchen; you'll receive extra light through the back window in the right wall and will also be able to enjoy the fireplace while partaking of a leisurely meal.

Measuring 12'x10' in dimensions, the kitchen is carefully planned to save the busy housewife's steps and make kitchen tasks as easy and pleasant as possible. Working counters, and storage cupboards and cabinets are arranged in a U along the left, back and right walls. The refrigerator is at the left end of counters; the stove at the right end and the sink is in the middle, under the double windows in the back wall of the room.

Kitchen Well Planned

Actually, stove, sink and refrigerator are but a few steps from each other. Also but a short distance away is the breakfast nook, in the right front corner of the room. Receiving extra light and ventilation from the window in the right wall looking out on the connecting porchway, and from the window facing the front yard, the nook is of a convenient size—large enough to hold the average breakfast set.

The door in the right kitchen wall leads to the connecting porchway which is 12' by 9'. This porch can be screened or glassed in and used as an extra room, or it can be left open if you prefer. Whatever the use decided for this porchway, you'll appreciate the protected entrance and exit it provides for the 20'x10' garage.

Two bedrooms, the den or bedroom, and the bath occupy the left half of "The Youngdale." A hallway leading from the door in the back wall of the living room connects with these rooms.

Measuring 12'x8'6", the den or bedroom is well lighted and ventilated by the double window in the back wall. The closet in the right wall will be put to good use whether you decide to have this room serve as a bedroom or as a den. Bookshelves could easily be installed along the front wall of the room if you want it to be a combination den-library. If the room is to serve as both a regular and guest bedroom for the small fry, you can have bunk beds installed along the long left wall.

Windows in the left and back walls guarantee good light and ventilation for the 12 foot square bedroom. This room has a large clothes closet. So does the 13'6"x12' front bedroom. This larger bedroom, designed to serve as the master bedroom, also enjoys cross ventilation and good lighting.

Opening on the connecting hallway, the linen closet is placed between the two bedrooms. Another closet, back to the coat closet, in the entry hall also opens on this connecting hallway.

Placed between the den or bedroom and the back bedroom, the bath is thoroughly modern; contains both a tub and a shower and is amply lighted and ventilated by the one window in its back wall. The spacious closet in the right bathroom wall can be used for any one of a multitude of storage purposes.

When to Stop Is Vital Point In Remodeling

"Remodel an old house, if you don't have to make too many structural changes." That's the advice of housing experts who point out that the commonest fault of remodelers is not knowing when to stop.

Using a 50-year-old house as an example, the experts recommend four basic changes. First, rewire the house completely for fire protection; second, install space heaters to avoid costly duct work; third, finish off the attic for needed living space; and fourth, cover old plaster walls rather than try to refinish them.

Jobs for Experts

Rewiring a house and installing a heating system are jobs for the experts. With easy-to-use building materials available again, it is relatively simple for the home owner to add an extra attic room or to cover damaged ceilings.

One of the modern materials being used widely on these remodeling jobs is structural insulating board. Since this product is both a building material and an insulation, the home owner can use it to build walls and ceilings while insulating against summer heat and winter cold.

Another advantage of using insulating board is that it eliminates the expense of decorating because the product is obtainable in various factory finishes. Insulating boards come in large 4-foot sheets as well as long, narrow planks and rectangular or square tiles.

Plantings Should Add To Beauty of House

Planting about a house, whether a brand new one or old, should be planned to add to the beauty of the building. It should present an attractive picture, viewed from the street.

If tall trees dwarf the house and overgrown shrubs and evergreens hide it, and prevent occupants from seeing out windows, the planting has failed to achieve its purpose.

Examples of such failures are frequently given by modern one-story homes planted with shrubs and evergreens which have long been conventional materials to use about two-story homes with high basements.

One-story houses, with the main floor little higher than ground level, demand a different treatment by which they will not be made to seem lower, but broader, an effect achieved by emphasizing the horizontal line.

Only low-growing shrubs and plants should be planted in front of low homes. Visit the nurseries, ask lots of questions, and study nursery catalogues for pictures of the proper materials to plant. If landscaping is handled right, it will last for 20 years or more, asking only for routine pruning and spraying each season.

Patching Concrete

Small cracks in concrete can be patched with roofing compound. This is effective although it doesn't look very nice.

12 Bulbs Per Capita

Consumption of all types of electric light bulbs in the United States last year was 12 per capita.

Careful Planning Of New Dwelling Will Shave Cost

To build a home of minimum cost that will meet the needs of the family requires careful planning. According to the Housing and Home Finance Agency, the house must provide for the minimum needs of the family without overcrowding; most houses should be planned for possible future expansion, and adequate storage space should be provided.

Eliminating the basement and erecting the house on concrete slab saves in construction cost. The slab serves as a subfloor and obviates the expense of excavation and deep foundation walls. In the basementless home, a well-planned utility room should be provided for storage space and the equipment usually located in a basement.

Grass Clipping Mulch

Grass clippings are an asset to the lawn. They form a mulch that retains moisture and discourages crab-grass. As they decay, they provide food for the grass plants. Actually, it is necessary to remove the clippings only when there is danger of smothering the turf grasses. This situation usually occurs after delayed mowing has permitted excessive growth. Bentgrass lawns may require removal of clippings.

Good Earth Getting Thin

In the days of Myles Standish, America had about nine inches of topsoil. Now the nation's topsoil averages only about six inches because of erosion and the removal of organic matter.

NO FUTURE SEEN FOR TAX PLAN

Back in 1939 a unique experiment began. It was an effort to initiate among the 48 states themselves a constitutional amendment to limit the federal income tax.

The U. S. Constitution provides for two methods of amendment. In one, Congress approves an amendment and then submits it to ratification by 36—three-fourths—of the states. This is the standard approach.

In the other, 32 states, or two-thirds, may in effect petition Congress to act on a proposal which they have already endorsed. Congress then must call a constitutional convention to act on the amendment.

At this point the Constitution is vague. It does not say that the convention must draft and approve the amendment advanced by the petitioning states. It is silent on that. But, perhaps guided by legal decisions, some people interpret the convention as being "charged" with the duty of following the 32 states' wishes.

In any event, if the convention does approve such an amendment, it then has to be re-submitted to the states and must be ratified by 36, in the same manner as amendments drafted originally by Congress.

Patient and plodding attempts to use this rare method have over a 13-year period produced a total of only 16 states with effective resolutions for a limit of 25 per cent on federal income taxes. Altogether, 25 states adopted such resolutions, but seven later changed their minds and in two cases the measures were vetoed by governors.

Although the proposal may be considered by six or seven additional states this year, supporters of the tax limit are no longer optimistic the plan will work.

Consequently, resort is being had to the more standard method of amendment. A House subcommittee is soon scheduled to begin hearings on the plan. But it is given no chance of approval at this session.

In fact, its long-range chances are very poor. Organized labor is solidly against the proposal as a "millionaires' bill." The present administration is dead set in opposition. There is no assurance that even a new Republican administration which might be voted in next fall would favor the measure.

Senator Taft, a top GOP presidential prospect and the most influential Republican in the Senate, disapproves the plan, and many would follow his lead. Taft makes it clear he deplores present heavy rates of taxation on incomes, but he believes the methods and sources of federal tax revenues are matters which should be left to the discretion of Congress.

The proposed 25 per cent limit would take the issue out of congressional hands if approved. If Congress in some future emergency then required new sources of revenue—to finance a war, for example—income levies could not be raised without adoption of another constitutional amendment nullifying the earlier one. Modern war being what it is, the delay involved the constitutional process could be disastrous, even if the machinery were vastly speeded up to fit the occasion.

It seems evident that the weight of opposition to the tax-limit plan is decisive at this moment and is unlikely to decrease in the foreseeable future. It looks very much as if the 13-year labors of the plan's backers are going to prove in vain.

A new table lamp runs solely on electric energy produced when a radio is turned on, we understand. Which is remarkable, considering the low output of some programs on the air.

JAY-WALKING MILKMEN

A sound law may be too much of a good thing. Calgary, Alberta, has found it necessary to amend its ordinance against jay-walking, because it was being enforced against milkmen. They protested that their work required them to cross and recross streets between blocks, and that the ordinance inflicted a hardship. Other Calgarians should note, however, that this relaxation is not meant for them.

THUS FAR . . .

Thus far, the canvass for the Presidential nomination in either party has produced factional splits of an unusual character.

In the Democratic Party, the cleavage between the North and the South is of so serious a nature, so personal and vindictive that no one can foretell its consequences. In this situation, Senator Estes Kefauver is no factor. He is still regarded as regular in party politics, as placing himself in position for the Vice-Presidential nomination. It is assumed by politicians that Kefauver will actually be of value to Truman, making it possible for the President to have a Southerner on his ticket should he decide to run again.

On the other hand, William Hillman's book, "Mr. President," has deepened the antagonism among Southerners for the President. The publication of the letter to James Byrnes, which the book claims Truman read to his then Secretary of State and which Byrnes denied he ever saw or heard, involves the President and the Governor of South Carolina in an argument as to who is untruthful.

The quarrel between them is now irreconcilable because it has become personal rather than political, with all the overtones of a feud. Most of the Southerners will line up with Byrnes and will support Senator Richard Russell for the Presidency. Russell's candidacy is real and may result in a third ticket in the election. This may benefit whoever is the Republican candidate; it could throw the election into the 83rd Congress, the complexion of which is not now known.

Ralph Nicholson, publisher of "The Charlotte Observer," raises the question of a coalition of Taft and Russell in a speech in which he said: "I think that the most qualified candidates to lead us back to liberty and security at home and respect abroad are Senator Russell and Senator Taft. I think either can do marvelously. It would be grand if one of them could become President and the other Vice President."

This is a reverberation of the effort a year ago of Senator Karl Mundt to form a coalition of Republicans and Democrats. While this effort failed then, it is now being revived in those circles which are antagonistic to Eisenhower and Truman.

The Republicans are also violently divided. It would seem at this moment that no matter who is nominated, the personal animosities developing during the primaries will not be allayed in time to achieve party unity by Election Day.

Republican politicians have always contended that the Willkie and Dewey elections were lost because too many Republicans did not vote for the Presidential candidate in those elections.

The hard core of a Republican victory is the regular party vote. If enough independents come their way, the Republicans can win. If, however, regular vote for United States senators and the governors and state officials, but not the Presidential candidate, it has been experience that the independents do not make up for the abstentions among the Republicans.

A deepening of the cleavage among Republicans will surely therefore result in the defeat of the Republican candidate whoever he may be, unless he wins over some of the Solid South, in which case the normal ratios would be altered in favor of the Republican candidate.

The Eisenhower forces are bitter because Taft has prevented the nomination of their candidate by unanimous consent. The Taft forces are bitter because the volunteers in the Eisenhower group, many of them former New Dealers and former government officials, use tactics in a primary which they say imperil the election. This argument is being made in particular concerning New Jersey.

The professional invariably thinks during the primary that whoever is nominated will have to be supported. Therefore, while he opposes a candidate, he does not employ tactics in the primary which imperil the party's victory at the polls. The amateur, particularly business men, does not think that way. He sets the target and hopes to reach it by whatever means can be devised. The effect in the Willkie campaign was the election of Roosevelt for a third term, which heretofore had been believed impossible.

Thus far this is apparent—in no camp currently is there any feeling of elation. I am not referring to published statements; I am referring to what is said behind the hand. Politicians in neither party are in a mood to set up odds for their side. (Copyright, 1952 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CHRONIC ILLNESS

"There is a wide agreement that the major medical care problem in this country is chronic disease. One in every six people is chronically ill; three out of four hospital beds are occupied by victims of long-term illness. Many of these people are chronically ill because they did not seek the attention of doctors early enough. Some are crowding hospitals who would be better off at home if supplementary home care were available. And still others who could learn to take care of themselves and live useful lives with proper rehabilitation. As a result, the chronically ill are taking a disproportionate amount of time of doctors, nurses and welfare workers and are overloading hospitals and medical facilities."

I am quoting Leonard W. Mayo, Chairman, Commission on Chronic Illness, in the pamphlet "Something Can Be Done About Chronic Illness" written by Herbert Y. Barnes, the noted science writer. The commission has four major organizations which it—American Hospital Association, the American Medical Association, the American Public Health Association and the American Public Welfare Association. These organizations have the health and welfare of mankind as their object. The pamphlet is published by the Public Affairs Committee Inc., a non-profit organization. Single copies cost 25 cents postpaid and may be obtained by sending this amount to Public Affairs Pamphlets, 22 East 38th St., New York 16, N. Y.

A chronic disease is one that lasts a long time. It is an abnormal and persistent change in the structure or behavior of some part of the body. Most of us have the idea that chronic disease occurs only in elderly people; it does to a great extent, but one case in every six involves a person under twenty-five, and one in every two involves a person under forty-five.

An acute disease lasts for days or weeks; a chronic disease for months, years or decades. Chronic disease needs more treatment than that of the physician, such as nursing care, physical therapy (heat, massage, electricity and rehabilitation).

What about the prevention of chronic disease? The pamphlet points out that for many chronic diseases there are specific or special preventive measures. One example is rheumatic disease, in which protective hormones like cortisone and ACTH are often used to soften effect of the infection. Diabetes can be prevented in members of diabetic families by not becoming overweight. Syphilis is another chronic disease which special drugs prevent and cure. Overweight (obesity) cuts down a person's chances for a long life-span.

Of Course, He Could Move

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—The men who pack the most weight with President Truman are his aides and secretaries—the palace guard—supposed to do the routine chores around the White House but who don't hesitate to advise the President on high policy matters. Thus, a mere appointment secretary, such as Matt Connelly, has become one of the most powerful men in the nation.

Straus jumped at the chance, went up to Congress where Kefauver was then serving in the House of Representatives, and got acquainted with the young congressman. Kefauver then became one of the staunchest backers for public housing. This was before Taft got behind public housing and helped put across the present housing bill.

WMCA in New York, never forgot that help. He also came to have a high regard for Kefauver and spent days up in New Hampshire recently helping run his campaign.

On Monday, one day before the New Hampshire primary, financial-father Straus was worried. He didn't think his protégé from Tennessee had a chance to beat Truman.

"What do you think his chances are?" Straus asked newsmen, and then volunteered: "I think he'll get about 40 per cent of the popular vote."

Newsmen generally agreed. But next day, election day, Straus was more pessimistic. "I'm afraid he'll only get about 35 per cent of the vote," he said. "What's sent your estimate down?" asked NBC commentator Leon Pearson. "Yesterday you said Kefauver would get 40 per cent."

"I just don't want the senator to be too disappointed," Straus replied. "You see, ever since he heard your brother predict he would win on Sunday night, the senator really believes he's going to win."

Note—Though Kefauver has a few staunch financial friends such as Straus, his campaign headquarters is so short of funds that it couldn't afford to pay rent at the Willard Hotel here and moved to a less expensive hotel. Reason is that Kefauver refuses to take contributions from suspicious sources.

NO FUTURE SEEN FOR TAX PLAN

Back in 1939 a unique experiment began. It was an effort to initiate among the 48 states themselves a constitutional amendment to limit the federal income tax.

The U. S. Constitution provides for two methods of amendment. In one, Congress approves an amendment and then submits it to ratification by 36—three-fourths—of the states. This is the standard approach.

In the other, 32 states, or two-thirds, may in effect petition Congress to act on a proposal which they have already endorsed. Congress then must call a constitutional convention to act on the amendment.

At this point the Constitution is vague. It does not say that the convention must draft and approve the amendment advanced by the petitioning states. It is silent on that. But, perhaps guided by legal decisions, some people interpret the convention as being "charged" with the duty of following the 32 states' wishes.

In any event, if the convention does approve such an amendment, it then has to be re-submitted to the states and must be ratified by 36, in the same manner as amendments drafted originally by Congress.

Patient and plodding attempts to use this rare method have over a 13-year period produced a total of only 16 states with effective resolutions for a limit of 25 per cent on federal income taxes. Altogether, 25 states adopted such resolutions, but seven later changed their minds and in two cases the measures were vetoed by governors.

Although the proposal may be considered by six or seven additional states this year, supporters of the tax limit are no longer optimistic the plan will work.

Consequently, resort is being had to the more standard method of amendment. A House subcommittee is soon scheduled to begin hearings on the plan. But it is given no chance of approval at this session.

In fact, its long-range chances are very poor. Organized labor is solidly against the proposal as a "millionaires' bill." The present administration is dead set in opposition. There is no assurance that even a new Republican administration which might be voted in next fall would favor the measure.

Senator Taft, a top GOP presidential prospect and the most influential Republican in the Senate, disapproves the plan, and many would follow his lead. Taft makes it clear he deplores present heavy rates of taxation on incomes, but he believes the methods and sources of federal tax revenues are matters which should be left to the discretion of Congress.

The proposed 25 per cent limit would take the issue out of congressional hands if approved. If Congress in some future emergency then required new sources of revenue—to finance a war, for example—income levies could not be raised without adoption of another constitutional amendment nullifying the earlier one. Modern war being what it is, the delay involved the constitutional process could be disastrous, even if the machinery were vastly speeded up to fit the occasion.

It seems evident that the weight of opposition to the tax-limit plan is decisive at this moment and is unlikely to decrease in the foreseeable future. It looks very much as if the 13-year labors of the plan's backers are going to prove in vain.

A new table lamp runs solely on electric energy produced when a radio is turned on, we understand. Which is remarkable, considering the low output of some programs on the air.

JAY-WALKING MILKMEN

A sound law may be too much of a good thing. Calgary, Alberta, has found it necessary to amend its ordinance against jay-walking, because it was being enforced against milkmen. They protested that their work required them to cross and recross streets between blocks, and that the ordinance inflicted a hardship. Other Calgarians should note, however, that this relaxation is not meant for them.

THUS FAR . . .

Thus far, the canvass for the Presidential nomination in either party has produced factional splits of an unusual character.

In the Democratic Party, the cleavage between the North and the South is of so serious a nature, so personal and vindictive that no one can foretell its consequences. In this situation, Senator Estes Kefauver is no factor. He is still regarded as regular in party politics, as placing himself in position for the Vice-Presidential nomination. It is assumed by politicians that Kefauver will actually be of value to Truman, making it possible for the President to have a Southerner on his ticket should he decide to run again.

On the other hand, William Hillman's book, "Mr. President," has deepened the antagonism among Southerners for the President. The publication of the letter to James Byrnes, which the book claims Truman read to his then Secretary of State and which Byrnes denied he ever saw or heard, involves the President and the Governor of South Carolina in an argument as to who is untruthful.

The quarrel between them is now irreconcilable because it has become personal rather than political, with all the overtones of a feud. Most of the Southerners will line up with Byrnes and will support Senator Richard Russell for the Presidency. Russell's candidacy is real and may result in a third ticket in the election. It could throw the election into the 83rd Congress, the complexion of which is not now known.

Ralph Nicholson, publisher of "The Charlotte Observer," raises the question of a coalition of Taft and Russell in a speech in which he said: "I think that the most qualified candidates to lead us back to liberty and security at home and respect abroad are Senator Russell and Senator Taft. I think either can do marvelously. It would be grand if one of them could become President and the other Vice President."

This is a reversion of the effort a year ago of Senator Karl Mundt to form a coalition of Republicans and Democrats. While this effort failed then, it is now being revived in those circles which are antagonistic to Eisenhower and Truman. The Republicans are also violently divided. It would seem at this moment that no matter who is nominated, the personal animosities developing during the primaries will not be allayed in time to achieve party unity by Election Day.

Republican politicians have always contended that the Willie and Dewey elections were lost because too many Republicans did not vote for the Presidential candidate in those elections. The hard core of a Republican victory is the regular party vote. If enough independents come their way, the Republicans can win. If, however, regulars vote for United States senators and the governors and state officials, but scratch the Presidential candidate, it has been experience that the independents do not make up for the abstentions among the Republicans.

A deepening of the cleavage among Republicans will surely therefore result in the defeat of the Republican candidate whoever he may be, unless he wins over some of the Solid South, in which case the normal ratios would be altered in favor of the Eisenhower candidate.

The Eisenhower forces are bitter because Taft has prevented the nomination of their candidate by unanimous consent. The Taft forces are bitter because the volunteers in the Eisenhower group, many of them former New Dealers and former government officials, use tactics in a primary which they say imperil the election. This argument is being made in particular concerning New Jersey.

The professional invariably thinks during the primary that whoever is nominated will have to be supported. Therefore, while he opposes a candidate, he does not employ tactics in the primaries which imperil the party's victory at the polls. The anti-party, particularly business men, does not think that way. He sees the target and hopes to reach it by whatever means can be devised. The effect of the Willie campaign was the election of Roosevelt for a third term, which heretofore had been believed impossible.

Thus far this is apparent—in no camp currently is there any feeling of elation. I am not referring to published statements: I am referring to what is said behind the hand. Politicians in neither party are in a mood to set up odds for their side.

CHRONIC ILLNESS

"There is a wide agreement that the major medical care problem in this country is chronic disease. One in every six people is chronically ill; three out of four hospital beds are occupied by victims of long-time illness. Many of these people are chronically ill because they did not seek the attention of doctors early enough. Some are crowding hospitals who would be better off at home if supplementary home care were available. And still others who could learn to take care of themselves and live useful lives with proper rehabilitation. As a result, the chronically ill are taking a disproportionate amount of time of doctors, nurses and welfare workers and are overloading hospitals and medical facilities."

I am quoting Leonard W. Mayo, Chairman, Commission on Chronic Illness, in the pamphlet "Something Can Be Done About Chronic Illness" written by Herbert Yahraes, the noted science writer. The commission has four large organizations behind it—American Hospital Association, the American Medical Association, the American Public Health Association and the American Public Welfare Association. These organizations have the health and welfare of mankind as their object. The pamphlet is published by the Public Affairs Committee Inc., a non-profit organization. Single copies cost 25 cents postpaid and may be obtained by sending this amount to Public Affairs Pamphlets, 22 East 38th St., New York 16, N. Y.

A chronic disease is one that lasts a long time. It is an abnormal and persistent change in the structure or behavior of some part of the body. Most of us have the idea that chronic disease occurs only in elderly people; it does to a great extent, but one case in every six involves a person under twenty-five, and one in every two involves a person under forty-five.

An acute disease lasts for days or weeks; a chronic disease for months, years or decades. Chronic disease needs more treatment than that of the physician, such as nursing care, physical therapy (heat, massage, electricity and rehabilitation).

What about the prevention of chronic disease? The pamphlet points out that for many chronic diseases there are specific or special preventive measures. One example is rheumatic disease, in which protective hormones like cortisone and ACTH are often used to soften effect of the infection. Diabetes can be prevented in members of diabetic families by not becoming overweight. Syphilis is another chronic disease which special drugs prevent and cure. Overweight (obesity) cuts down a person's chances for a long life-span.

ALICE SMILEY

Mrs. Alice Smiley, concert violinist, of Mohonk Lake will appear on the musical program to be presented during the Youth Aliyah reception Wednesday, March 26, at 8 p. m., in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. The reception will mark the culmination of a campaign sponsored annually by Hadassah.

She has been heard over the major national radio networks and has made one hundred recordings for Columbia Recording Corporation, released under the name of Add-a-Part. She appeared as soloist with symphony orchestras in New York, Foughkeepsie and Albany and was recalled by all for second engagements. She has won great praise in recitals from the south through New England.

Following her formal New York debut in 1948 in a highly successful concert at Town Hall, she gave recitals in California, Boston, Lakeville, Conn., has appeared frequently in Woodstock and has been soloist with the Vassar and Dutchess County orchestras. She is artist-in-residence for the summer concerts at Lake Mohonk. Victor Landau, a member of the faculty of New Paltz State Teachers College, will be the accompanist.

Of Republican Women at April Meeting

Orlo M. Brees, New York state assemblyman from Broome county, will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Ulster County Republican Women's Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday, April 29, it was announced today by Miss Alice Scardefield, president.

At the organization's last meeting featuring young Republicans Tuesday evening the guests were Frederick H. Stang, county attorney, and the Misses Beatrice Newkirk and Cynthia Steketee. A musical program was presented by students of Marlin E. Morrette.

Speaking to the 35 or more young people present, Mr. Stang outlined the innumerable privileges they enjoyed in this country and the responsibilities entailed in guarding such privileges. He recommended an intelligent study of government as a basis for future action.

In his talk to the adults, he stressed the responsibility they must all shoulder in the forthcoming national election.

The Misses Newkirk and Steketee recounted the highlights of their travels in Holland and Belgium last year as members of the American Field Service Student group.

The musical part of the program included an alto saxophone solo, Jealousy, by V. Gade, played by John La Lima, accompanied by Dorothy Maines; vocal solos, Summertime by George Gershwin and Make Believe by Jerome Kern, sung by Mrs. Jean Benton accompanied by Arlene Harris; and a clarinet solo, Rhapsody in G Minor by Edressness, played by Robert Coutant accompanied by Arlene Harris.

JACOBY
ON BRIDGEGo Ahead and Cry;
We Are With YouBy OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Every bridge player must listen to my tale of woe," writes a sad Chicago fan. "There never was such a fixing since bridge has been played."

"I got to my optimistic contract of five clubs, and West opened the four of spades. East took the queen of spades and the ace of spades. Then he quickly led another card from his hand."

"As he led this new card from his hand, he looked at the dummy and said, 'This is a misdeal. There are two kings of spades in this deck.' Then he looked down at the card he had led and turned a bright shade of green. As you've undoubtedly guessed, he had led the king of clubs under the impression that he was leading the king of spades."

"Well, he grabbed his king of clubs to try to put it back in his hand, and I didn't try to stop him, but my partner insisted that the card had been led and that East couldn't take it back. Since North also happens to be my boss, and since I'm not a complete nitwit, I didn't argue the point. That king of clubs had to stand as a lead."

"The payoff, as you can see, is that the king of clubs is the only card that East can lead to defeat me. With that lead I get no ruffs in dummy, and I can win only ten tricks in high cards: a spade, a heart, two diamonds, and six clubs."

"If East leads any of the remaining ten cards in his hand (but not the king of clubs), I can make the contract. For example, if East leads a third spade, I throw a diamond from my hand and win in dummy."

"Then I finesse the queen of diamonds, take the ace of diamonds, ruff a diamond in dummy, with the queen of clubs, and finesse clubs to return to my hand. All the finesses work, and all the right cards drop."

"The play is much the same no matter what East returns—just as long as he doesn't get a brainstorm and return that king of clubs. Do I have a right to howl and gnash my teeth or don't I?"

Permission to howl is hereby granted. Sympathetic bridge players are urged not to sob too loudly over this sad tale.

SAWKILL NEWS

Sawkill, March 22—Mrs. Leedecke's niece, Miss Karen Boite, of Lincoln Park, spent several days with the Leedeckes last week at their home in the village.

March 15 marked the fifth anniversary of the installation of the chimes at St. Ann's Church in Sawkill, according to Town Historian Harry Siemsen. The chimes were a gift from E. McCann of New York. Other notations in the town history records tell of the fire April 1, 1947, which partly destroyed B. Smith's garage at Stony Hollow. Later that year, another fire completely destroyed it. Also, five years ago, April 27, 1947, a smallpox vaccination clinic was held in Sawkill at the schoolhouse, following a smallpox outbreak in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leahy had their nephew, Vincent Holland of Brooklyn, as their guest last weekend. Also visiting them during the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. John Goldpaugh and family of New Milford, N. J. They also visited the Misses Goldpaugh while in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Roeder were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hayes, Kingston, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bower and daughter Barbara, of Kingston, returned to their home Tuesday night from California, where he received his honorable discharge from the U. S. Navy.

Mrs. Kenneth Dolan's mother, Mrs. Frank Gallagher of Staten Island, is visiting the Dolans.

Mrs. Frank Joy of Hallahan's Hill spent several days this week visiting her daughters and their families, Mrs. Peter Leahy in Kingston, and Mrs. W. A. Kurtzweil in Mt. Marion.

Mrs. Harry Hulsair and Miss Marie Siemsen were among a group of Home Bureau women who attended the 36th International Flower Show at Grand Central Palace in New York on Wednesday.

Six movable desks were delivered to the upper Sawkill schoolhouse Wednesday. These are the first desks of this type to be used in the school and eventually it is planned to have all the permanently attached desks presently in the building replaced by these new ones.

On March 19, 1951, a special meeting was held at the schoolhouse for the purpose of authorizing the trustees of School District 1 to sell a portion of the school grounds to the Sawkill Fire Company. In the year's time which has passed since that meeting, the fire company has progressed commendably. A firehouse has been erected, and is now in the process of being completed; a fire truck and necessary equipment has been acquired, and the district may expect to have complete local fire protection in the very near future. At the present time, the Sawkill company is considered a part of the Central Fire District and is entitled to the protection of various fire companies in the surrounding districts in case of need. The prior of the firehouse is practically complete, and including plumbing heating, etc., the kitchen is rapidly being equipped with the aid of the women's auxiliary. To date, the equipment includes among the larger items, a steel cabinet sink, a gas range, and a large electric coffee urn. Further plans will include the acquisition of the other necessary kitchen accessories. The firehouse is now being used to store fire-fighting equipment, the fire truck and also the town snow plow truck, and the benches, etc., used at the annual picnics held each summer. The fire company meetings have been held recently in the firehouse, also. It is planned to have various dances, and parties, and other social activities in the building, as soon as the building is completely ready for those uses. The outside work yet to be done includes the building of a road, which will be based with brick.

Miss Goldpaugh, teacher of the upper Sawkill School, attended a faculty meeting Friday afternoon at the Hurley School.

Services Sunday will be held at St. Wendelinus Church in Ruby at 8:30 a. m., and at St. Ann's Church in Sawkill at 10 a. m.

During Lent, every Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. Stations of the Cross will be at the Chapel of St. Ann's Church, and will be followed by the benediction of the most sacred sacrament, Novena devotions will follow the last Mass every Sunday during Lent.

Volunteers working in, and around the firehouse during the week and weekend included Joseph Leahy, Michael Hagerty, Leo Stauble, Earl Sleight, Francis Joy, George Leedecke, and Fidel Hugger. More volunteer work is needed and anyone available is welcome to assist in their spare time.

ALICE SMILEY

One of the indicative facts in the career of the noted violinist is the delighted audience Mrs. Smiley creates in a concert hall. Her hearers are consistently responsive to her rich talent and distinctive stage personality.

Her musical experiences are varied and point to the versatility of her art. She has been heard over the major national radio networks and has made one hundred recordings for Columbia Recording Corporation, released under the name of Add-a-Part. She appeared as soloist with symphony orchestras in New York, Poughkeepsie and Albany and was recalled by all for second engagements. She has won great praise in recitals from the south through New England.

Following her formal New York debut in 1948 in a highly successful concert at Town Hall, she gave recitals in California, Boston, Lakeville, Conn., has appeared frequently in Woodstock, and has been soloist with the Vassar and Dutchess County orchestras. She is artist-in-residence for the summer concerts at Lake Mohonk.

Victor Landau, a member of the faculty of New Paltz State Teachers College, will be the accompanist.

40th Birthday at Myron J. Michael School

Approximately 350 Girl Scouts and their leaders filled the Myron J. Michael auditorium last Saturday afternoon when they gathered together to celebrate the 40th birthday of Girl Scout Troop 71.

The Brownie Scouts were attired in their pet brown uniforms and the Intermediates and Seniors in their refreshing greens.

Mrs. Huyler Van Wagenen opened the ceremonies by introducing Mrs. Lester Lange, who announced the presentation of the American flag was made by Carol Wood with color guards Julie Ann Hayes and Mary Ann Hofbauer, Troop 71. The Brownie flag was presented by Gail Chipchase, Troop 55 with color guard Ann Hallinan, Troop 72. The Girl Scout flag was presented by Patricia Ann Dougherty, Troop 4, with color guard Linda Lange, Troop 54.

Upon the presentation of the Colors, all joined in pledging allegiance to the flag, which was followed by the singing of the national anthem, and the recitation of the Girl Scout Promise.

Mrs. Everett Cote, Ulster county Girl Scout commissioner, was introduced to the audience and welcomed the Scouts and their leaders. Mrs. Cote expressed the thanks of the Ulster County Girl Scout Council for the fine cooperation of leadership shown by the troop leaders throughout the year.

Mrs. Cote then spoke of the Juliette Low Fund, explaining the use of the money derived from the fund. It is used for underprivileged Scouts throughout the world.

Mrs. Lester Lange accepted the individual troop Juliette Low gifts, attractively wrapped with Girl Scout colors and insignia. Each gift was presented by a Scout chosen by each troop, being thus honored for the occasion.

JACOBY

ON BRIDGE

Go Ahead and Cry;

We Are With You

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"Every bridge player must listen to my tale of woe," writes a sad Chicago fan. "There never was such a fixing since bridge has been played."

"I got to my optimistic contract of five clubs, and West opened the four of spades. East took the queen of spades and the ace of spades. Then he quickly led another card from his hand."

"As he led this new card from his hand, he looked at the dummy and said, 'This is a misdeal. There are two kings of spades in this deck.' Then he looked down at the card he had led and turned a bright shade of green. As you've undoubtedly guessed, he had led the king of clubs under the impression that he was leading the king of spades."

"Well, he grabbed his king of clubs to try to put it back in his hand, and I didn't try to stop him, but my partner insisted that the card had been led and that East couldn't take it back. Since North also happened to be my boss, and since I'm not a complete nitwit, I didn't argue the point. That king of clubs had to stand as a lead."

"The payoff, as you can see, is that the king of clubs is the only card that East can lead to defeat me. With that lead I get no ruffs in dummy, and I can win only ten tricks in high cards: a spade, a heart, two diamonds, and six clubs."

"If East leads any of the remaining ten cards in his hand (but not the king of clubs), I can make the contract. For example, if East leads a third spade, I throw a diamond from my hand and win in dummy."

"Then I finesse the queen of diamonds, take the ace of diamonds, ruff a diamond in dummy with the queen of clubs, and finesse clubs to return to my hand. All the finesses work, and all the right cards drop."

"The play is much the same no matter what East returns—just as long as he doesn't get a brainstorm and return that king of clubs. Do I have a right to howl and gnash my teeth or don't I?"

Permission to howl is hereby granted. Sympathetic bridge players are urged not to sob too loudly over this sad tale.

SAWKILL NEWS

Sawkill, March 22—Mrs. Leedecke's niece, Miss Karen Boite, of Lincoln Park, spent several days with the Leedeckes last week at their home in the village.

March 15 marked the fifth anniversary of the installation of the chimes at St. Ann's Church in Sawkill, according to Town Historian Harry Siemsen. The chimes were a gift from E. McCann of New York. Other notations in the town history records tell of the fire April 1, 1947, which partly destroyed B. Smith's garage at Stony Hollow. Later that year, another fire completely destroyed it. Also, five years ago, April 27, 1947, a smallpox vaccination clinic was held in Sawkill at the schoolhouse, following a smallpox outbreak in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leahy had their nephew, Vincent Holland of Brooklyn, as their guest last weekend. Also visiting them during the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. John Goldpaugh and family of New Milford, N. J. They also visited the Misses Goldpaugh while in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Roebor were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hayes, Kingston, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hulsair, Sr., and son, George, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hulsair and family of Kingston, spent last weekend at St. John'sville visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. Forster and son, William.

Miss Mildred Gerds, of the Bard College staff, and Capt. Jerome Ferber of the U. S. Air Corps, stationed at Stewart Field, Newburgh, spent the weekend in upper Sawkill with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gerds.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dolan are the parents of a son, William Patrick, born at the Benedictine Hospital, March 14.

Miss Jane Howard of Kingston, spent the weekend in the village as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Dolan and son, Donald.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens and family visited Mr. and Mrs. J. Tobias and son, in Belle Rose, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Myers had as guests last weekend Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Myers and son Gregory.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bower and daughter Barbara, of Kingston, returned to their home Tuesday night from California, where he received his honorable discharge from the U. S. Navy.

Mrs. Kenneth Dolan's mother, Mrs. Frank Gallagher of Staten Island, is visiting the Dolans.

Mrs. Frank Joy of Hallahan's Hill spent several days this week visiting her daughters and their families, Mrs. Peter Leahy in Kingston, and Mrs. W. A. Kurtzweil in Mt. Kisco.

Mrs. Harry Hulsair and Miss Marie Siemsen were among a group of Home Bureau women who attended the 36th International Flower Show at Grand Central Palace in New York on Wednesday.

Six movable desks were delivered to the upper Sawkill schoolhouse Wednesday. These are the first desks of this type to be used in the school and eventually it is planned to have all the permanently attached desks presently in the building replaced by these new ones.

On March 19, 1951, a special meeting was held at the schoolhouse for the purpose of authorizing the trustees of School District 1 to sell a portion of the school grounds to the Sawkill Fire Company. In the year's time which has passed since that meeting, the fire company has progressed commendably. A firehouse has been erected, and is now in the process of being completed; a fire truck and necessary equipment has been acquired, and the district local fire protection in the very near future. At the present time, the Sawkill company is considered a part of the Central Fire District and is entitled to the protection of various fire companies in the surrounding districts in case of need. The interior of the firehouse is practically complete, and including plumbing, heating, etc., the kitchen is rapidly being equipped with the aid of the women's auxiliary. To date, the equipment includes among the larger items, a steel cabinet sink, a gas range, and a large electric coffee urn. Further plans will include the acquisition of the other necessary kitchen accessories. The firehouse is now being used to store fire-fighting equipment, the fire truck and also the town snow plow truck, and the benches, etc., used at the annual picnics held each summer. The fire company meetings have been held recently in the firehouse, also. It is planned to have various dances, and parties, and other social activities in the building, as soon as the building is completely ready for those uses. The outside work yet to be done includes the building of a road, which will be based with brick.

Miss Goldpaugh, teacher of the upper Sawkill School, attended a faculty meeting Friday afternoon at the Hurley School.

Services Sunday will be held at St. Wendelinus Church in Ruby, 8:30 a. m., and at St. Ann's Church in Sawkill at 10 a. m.

During Lent, every Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. Stations of the Cross will be at the Chapel of St. Ann's Church, and will be followed by the benediction of the most sacred sacrament, Novena devotions will follow the last Mass every Sunday during Lent.

Volunteers working in and around the firehouse during the week and weekend included Joseph Leahy, Michael Haggerty, Leo Stauble, Earl Slight, Francis Joy, George Leedecke, and Fidel Haggerty. More volunteer work is needed and anyone available is welcome to assist in their spare time.

Kentucky Routs Penn State, 82 to 54 In NCAA; St. John's Stops N. C. State

By TED MEIER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Kentucky's basketball team lived up to expectations last night as the NCAA eliminations opened in Raleigh, Chicago, Kansas City and Corvallis.

The mighty Wildcats from the Blue Grass country, rated the No. 1 team in the country and aiming for their second straight NCAA crown, walloped Penn State, 82 to 54, before 11,000 in Raleigh.

All-America Cliff Hagan led Kentucky with 20 points as the Wildcats romped to their 23rd straight triumph.

St. John's Illinois, Duquesne, Kansas, St. Louis, Wyoming and Santa Clara kept pace with Kentucky in the first round play. All were favored with the exception of Santa Clara, surprise 68-59 victor over UCLA in the west coast competition at Corvallis.

St. John's Wins

St. John's stood off a late North Carolina State rally to beat the Wolfpack, 60-49, in the second game at Raleigh, Illinois, behind 37-36 at halftime, roared back to swamp Dayton, 80-61, in the feature of the twin bill at Chicago before 14,147. Little (5-10) Jim Bremer broke loose in the second half for the Illini to turn a close game into a rout.

Duquesne bounced back from its poor showing in the NIT last week to whip Princeton, 60-49, the debonair Dukes pulled away in the last quarter after the score was tied 39-39.

Kansas, with All-America Clyde Lovellette, 31 points, nipped Texas Christian, 68-64, before 10,500 at Kansas City after St. Louis had whipped New Mexico A & M, 62-53. Lovellette's 31 points tied the NCAA tournament record set by George Glamack of North Carolina in 1941.

Rugged Wyoming successfully stalled the last four minutes to down Oklahoma City, 54-48, before 5,520 at Corvallis following UCLA's unexpected defeat.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

San Francisco, March 22 (AP)—New York, Giant coach Frank Shellenback believes that right-hander Al Corwin will pitch better from now on.

Corwin was belted his first two times out but came up with three good innings recently.

"He was just all mixed up," Shellenback said today. "Last year he relied mainly on his fast ball and control. Now he has a curve."

Brandenton, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Max Surkont will pitch for the Boston Braves today as they try to make it two in a row over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Fleet outfielder, Sam Jethroe suffered a sprained left wrist yesterday as he crashed into the wall while chasing a fly ball as Boston outlasted the Phils in Clearwater, 13-11. Jethroe's injury is not serious.

Miami, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Left-hander Mel Parnel and right-hander Ellis Kinder are Manager Lou Boudreau's pitching choices for the Boston Red Sox today as they open a two-game series against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Red Sox will be without the services of rookie right hander Iwan Delock. He suffered a thigh muscle pull yesterday before Boston defeated the Athletics 5-3 in West Palm Beach and was ordered back to the Sox' home base at Sarasota.

Tampa, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Bob Keegan, 30-year-old right-hander, is on his way to the New York Yankees' Kansas City farm club today.

Keegan was pounded in his brief trial, yielding eight earned runs and 10 hits in five innings. The Philadelphia Phils nailed him for seven runs in one inning the other day.

Miami, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Center fielder Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers has returned to action although his injured ankle still bothers him.

Manager Chuck Dressen said today that the ankle bothers Snider when he runs "but he's got to play. We'll be leaving soon and he hasn't seen any pitching."

Snider batted out two singles last night in the Dodgers' 8-2 defeat by Washington.

Washburn, March 22 (AP)—Congressional charges of fraud, waste and inefficiency in building multimillion-dollar airbase in North Africa brought a drastic shakeup today of army engineers who handled the job.

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, which has been investigating the African project for months, announced the Pentagon orders after receiving a letter from Pace outlining them.

Cold Kills Two Dogs

Darrington, Wash., March 22 (AP)—Death beat six expert mountaineers as they climbed the sides of Mt. Pugh and took the lives of two of the three cougar dogs which had been marooned at the 4,000 foot level for 15 days. The bodies of the valuable animals were found yesterday by the mountaineers who braved the hazardous, snow-covered face of the 7,150 foot mountain in a day-long climb to the dangerous ledge. The third dog—younger and spryer than the others—had escaped by leaping from the ledge. The two which died succumbed to cold, not hunger, veteran mountaineers said.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

San Francisco, March 22 (AP)—New York, Giant coach Frank Shellenback believes that right-hander Al Corwin will pitch better from now on.

"He was just all mixed up," Shellenback said today. "Last year he relied mainly on his fast ball and control. Now he has a curve."

Brandon, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Max Surkint will pitch for the Boston Braves today as they try to make it two in a row over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Miami, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Left-hander Mel Parnell and right hander Ellis Kinder are Manager Lou Boudreau's pitching choices for the Boston Red Sox today as they open a two-game series against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Keegan was pounded in his brief trial, yielding eight earned runs and 10 hits in five innings. The Philadelphia Phils nailed him for seven runs in one inning the other day.

Miami, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Center fielder Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers has returned to action although his injured ankle still bothers him.

Manager Chuck Dressen said today that the ankle bothers Snider when he runs "but he's got to play. We'll be leaving soon and he hasn't seen any pitching."

Snider batted out two singles last night in the Dodgers' 8-2 defeat by Washington.

No Flood Danger Indicated in Area

Reports on watershed conditions in Ulster county today indicated no immediate danger of flooding in the area, although the Albany Weather Bureau warned yesterday that an unusually warm spell or warm, heavy rains might cause serious floods in the northern drainage areas of the Hudson and Mohawk rivers.

The Weather Bureau warning, which applied to the areas north of the Mohawk Valley, was based on the fact that a record high water content exists in the unprecedented snow cover through the Adirondack mountains.

Scholarie Overflowing
With the Scholarie reservoir already overflowing and the Ashkan approaching its capacity, the possibility of future flooding of the Esopus creek could not be ruled out in event of warm rains, but the danger at least did not appear immediate.

Stream gauge readings at Cold Brook above the Ashkan had actually dropped a little since yesterday, the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity reported, and were well below the flood stage this morning.

The Ashkan reservoir, this morning lacked 500 million gallons of being full, the department said. Percentage-wise, however, that amount is less than four-tenths of one per cent of the reservoir's 130 billion gallon capacity.

Youngsters Take Spring Walk, Give Mothers Jitters

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to love—but if you're three or five you just go wandering.

Two of the city's younger set were bitten by the wander-bug yesterday and had a bit of adventure before they were restored to harried mothers.

Charles Mahoney, 5½, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mahoney of 150 Linderman avenue, left home at 3:30 p. m., with a playmate on a gay adventure which ended two hours later about a mile from his home. Young Mahoney, in "quite an escapade," wandered to Golden Hill and then to Warren street.

"It really was a scare," Mrs. Mahoney told the Freeman. "At almost the same time another lad, Bobby Millham, boasting the mellow age of three, left the side of his mother, Mrs. Robert G. Millham of 409 Washington avenue, while she was shopping in an uptown five and ten cent store."

He was discovered three anxious hours later playing with a group of children in front of the Salvation Army Hall on North Front street. The errant youngster was spotted by Miss Rose Ellsworth, a next-door neighbor.

Mrs. Millham said that while she was in the store Bobby had remarked to her that he wanted to go home and she said, yes, in a casual way. She assumes that the boy was under the impression that she meant they were leaving immediately and when she turned around after paying the clerk the lad was nowhere in sight.

Believing him to be in the store, perhaps back of one of the counters, Mrs. Millham searched frantically and, when she was unable to find the boy, notified police.

She was afraid the boy might be hit by a car and "have every body looking," Mrs. Millham explained.

But Bobby took the incident in stride. "He wasn't even frightened," Mrs. Millham said.

Didn't Know Sutton
New York, March 22 (AP)—A jittery bank guard flustered at identifying Willie (The Actor) Sutton yesterday, but another eyewitness placed an accusing hand on the gangster's shoulder. Theodore D. Sands, assistant manager of a Manufacturers Trust Co. branch in Queens, identified Sutton and Thomas (Scup) Kling as the gunmen who looted $64,000 from the branch in 1950. The identification of Sutton and Kling by Sands yesterday was made when bank guard James Weston failed completely to point out Kling and could not be sure of Sutton. Weston's performance surprised the prosecution. After the court adjourned, a spokesman for the district attorney's office said Weston was "very apparently afraid."

Held as Loan Shark
New York, March 22 (AP)—Police said today they arrested a water-front loan shark who lent money to Brooklyn longshoremen at 10 per cent interest per week and forced them from their jobs if they refused to borrow. Louis Ingenito, 39, also known as Louis Black, was charged with usury. Ingenito loaned about $30,000 a year to longshoremen, it was said.

School Hears Guin
Speaking before the entire student body in assembly last Thursday, Major Joel Guin stressed the fact that the United States is the greatest producing nation in the world.

Comparing the United States production and output with that of the other countries of the world, Major Guin illustrated U. S. strength by showing how the average man has risen from the peasant of the 19th century to the important voter of the 20th century.

Another point that the major stressed was the man of today has a great deal more of leisure time than his ancestors because of the new machines being invented which increase his output and allow him more time for other avocations. This leisure time should be utilized by man to educate himself in better ways to live.

The major stated that in the near future atomic energy will replace coal and gas before the supplies of these resources run out. His timely topic was well received by everyone who attended the lecture.

Winners Announced
Last Saturday morning, the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation once again sponsored the annual high school lamp building contest.

Six lamps, three winners and three honorable mention, were chosen from a field of 26. Charles Rex, a cabinet student, was awarded the first place award of $50 for his hand-carved walnut lamp. The second and third place awards of $30 and $20 went to Charles Saechtle and Will Rogers respectively.

George Gruenwald, John Gad-dis, and John Smith received the three honorable mention awards. Serving as judges for this contest were Mrs. Ennist of the Gov-ernor Clinton Gift Shop, Mr. Kaplan of the Kaplan Furniture Co., and Mr. Herriek of the Ackerman Herriek Hardware Store.

Library Club Duties
Under the directions of a committee, new members were initiated into the Library Club. The committee consisted of Sandra Margolis, Pat Van Wezemael, Jean Mauro and Esther Greary.

Replacing books on proper shelves, assisting students in finding books and arranging displays in the library are some of the duties of the club members. Miss Malone is the faculty supervisor of this group and the officers are Elaine MacMahon, president; Mary Davis, vice-president; Rose Nardi, secretary and treasurer.

During their monthly meetings they discussed library problems and have social get-togethers.

On Swim Team
Phil Metzger, salutatorian of the Class of 1949, is now an active member of the Union College swimming team. While the team was compiling a 9-1 record, he was compiling his own records. His main feat was placing first in the diving event against RPI, which was Union's arch rival. Besides swimming, he is associated with the URUC, the college radio station, and he is a member of the Block "U" Society, which is composed of all varsity lettermen.

Senators Accuse

temperate language, has characterized as an "untruth" every lapse or conflict of memory in my answers to questions ranging over many years and complicated events—many of them trivial and all of them related to events many years ago. I have nothing to hide and nothing to evade.

Cites Scheme
Lattimore said the subcommittee questioned him "with the obvious intention of artificially creating an impression of untruthfulness or evasion."

The subcommittee said "clearly Mr. Lattimore did, on many occasions, stand in contempt" of the group and that he "took that position voluntarily and intentionally."

McCarran told reporters the subcommittee had discussed whether to ask the Senate to cite Lattimore for contempt, but reached no decision.

The subcommittee has been trying to find out whether the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR), a private research organization of which Lattimore is a trustee, has exerted any subversive influence on official American policy toward the Far East.

Hogan Top Prudential Agent in Local Area

John J. Hogan, 49 German street, headed off Prudential Insurance Company 55 district agents in this area in 1951 sales, it was announced today.

Hogan's achievement was reported by George McCarthy, Kingston District head, who hailed it as an extremely impressive example of individual accomplishment. McCarthy pointed out that the district's "leading agent" faced stiff competition from some of the best underwriters in the area and only through a consistently top-notch performance throughout the entire qualifying period, could he attain the high standard he did.

The Prudential official also cited the agents supervised by Staff Manager C. A. Dragotta for attaining district leadership in group achievement. Dragotta's eight-man group not only led all like organizations throughout the area in average new business sales but in addition was responsible for conserving a substantial amount of existing protection. Dragotta, has been a staff manager since 1948. He lives at 148 Miller's Lane.

District sales remained at a high level throughout the entire year, McCarthy said, and resulted in a substantial increase in policyholders served through the district.

Volunteer firemen from here and adjacent Wassaic patrolled this entire town last night as uneasiness and tension increased in the wake of four extensive fires within a 10-mile radius over a 24-hour period. The estimated loss was placed at more than $250,000.

Town Supervisor Robert Blinn announced today that he had asked the Dutchess county sheriff's office and the New York state police to make a thorough investigation of the blazes.

Three Deadly Funnels
Three deadly funnels of wind struck west Tennessee in the Dyersburg area, where 12 were reported dead, three casualty reports in Tennessee had nine killed at Henderson, six at Moscow, and one each in Medina, Leach and Chesterfield.

The Mississippi highway patrol said seven persons were killed when a twister ripped through a small north Mississippi town.

This was by far the worst of many tornado disasters which have hit Arkansas through the years.

Dead Stacked Up
Funeral homes were swamped. The dead were stacked like cord-wood at Searcy while attention was given first to the injured.

This was by far the worst of many Tornado disasters which have hit Arkansas through the years. The previous record death toll was 86 in twisters which swept across the state June 5, 1916. The highest single day's death toll from Tornadoes recorded is 689 killed in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana March 18, 1925.

Hospitals likewise were jammed. Aid stations were set up in schools, churches, National Guard armories and other suitable standing buildings in the disaster areas.

The first of the death-dealing twisters hit Dierks, a small lumber town about 110 air miles southwest of Little Rock about 2:45 p. m. Seven persons were killed there.

Cotton Man Dies
New York, March 22 (AP)—William H. Koor, 56, former president of the New York Cotton Exchange, died yesterday at Roosevelt Hospital.

Riots in Trieste
Trieste, Free Territory, March 22 (AP)—Fighting between police and Italian demonstrators broke out again today in this allied-controlled city which both Italy and Yugoslavia claim. Clashes erupted in the Central Piazza Unita, scene of wild demonstration Thursday when 30 persons were injured and 61 arrested. The city was strike-bound by a 12-hour walkout ordered by the non-Communist unions to protest police action against Thursday's demonstrators. Students, taking the lead in this latest demonstration for return of the city and Free Territory to Italy, marched through police-patrolled streets. They overturned an allied military truck and damaged several others.

No Flood Danger Indicated in Area

Reports on watershed conditions in Ulster county today indicated no immediate danger of flooding in the area, although the Albany Weather Bureau warned yesterday that an unusually warm spell or warm, heavy rains might cause serious floods in the northern drainage areas of the Hudson and Mohawk rivers.

The Weather Bureau warning, which applied to the areas north of the Mohawk Valley, was based on the fact that a record high water content exists in the unprecedented snow cover through the Adirondack mountains.

Scholarie Overflowing
With the Scholarie reservoir already overflowing and the Ashokan approaching its capacity, the possibility of future flooding of the Esopus creek could not be ruled out in event of warm rains, but the danger at least did not appear immediate.

Stream gauge readings at Cold Brook above the Ashokan had actually dropped a little since yesterday, the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity reported, and were well below the flood stage this morning.

The Ashokan reservoir this morning lacked 500 million gallons of being full, the department said. Percentage-wise, however, that amount is less than four-tenths of one per cent of the reservoir's 130 billion gallon capacity.

Will Visit KHS
Russell S. Miller, career counselor at Albany Business College, will call at Kingston High School Monday to discuss business education with James E. Tobin, director of guidance. On Tuesday, March 25, he will visit the schools at Margaretville, Fleischmanns, and Hunter-Tannersville.

Youngsters Take Spring Walk, Give Mothers Jitters

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to love—but if you're three or five you just go wandering.

Two of the city's younger set were bitten by the wander-bug yesterday and had a bit of adventure before they were restored to harried mothers.

Charles Mahoney, 5½, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mahoney of 150 Linderman avenue, left home at 3:30 p. m., with a playmate on a gay adventure which ended two hours later about a mile from his home. Young Mahoney, in "quite an escape," wandered to Golden Hill and then to Warren street.

"It really was a scare," Mrs. Mahoney told The Freeman. At almost the same time another lad, Bobby Millham, boasting the mellow age of three, left the side of his mother, Mrs. Robert G. Millham of 409 Washington avenue, while she was shopping in an uptown five and ten cent store. He was discovered three anxious hours later playing with a group of children in front of the Salvation Army Hall on North Front street. The errant youngster was spotted by Miss Rose Ellsworth, a next-door neighbor.

Mrs. Millham said that while she was in the store Bobby had remarked to her that he wanted to go home and she said, yes, in a casual way. She assumes that the boy was under the impression that she meant they were leaving immediately and when she turned around after paying the clerk the lad was nowhere in sight.

Believing him to be in the store, perhaps back of one of the counters, Mrs. Millham searched frantically and, when she was unable to find the boy, notified police. She was afraid the boy might be hit by a car and "had every body looking," Mrs. Millham explained.

But Bobby took the incident in stride. "He wasn't even frightened," Mrs. Millham said.

Didn't Know Sutton

New York, March 22 (AP)—A jittery bank guard faltered at identifying Willie (The Actor) Sutton yesterday, but another eyewitness placed an accusing hand on the gangster's shoulder. Theodore D. Sands, assistant manager of a Manufacturers Trust Co. branch in Queens, identified Sutton and Thomas (Scup) Kling as the gunmen who looted $64,000 from the branch in 1950. The identification of Sutton and Kling by Sands yesterday was made after bank guard James Weston failed completely to point out Kling and could not be sure of Sutton. Weston's performance surprised the prosecution. After the court adjourned, a spokesman for the district attorney's office said Weston was "very apparently afraid."

Louis Ingenito, 39, also known as Louis Black, was charged with usury. Ingenito loaned about $50,000 a year to longshoremen, it was said.

School Hears Guin
Speaking before the entire student body in assembly last Thursday, Major Joel Guin stressed the fact that the United States is the greatest producing nation in the world.

Comparing the United States' production and output with that of the other countries of the world, Major Guin illustrated U. S. strength by showing how the average man has risen from the peasant of the 19th century to the important voter of the 20th century.

Another point that the major stressed was the man of today has a great deal more of leisure time than his ancestors because of the new machines being invented which increase his output and allow him more time for other avocations. This leisure time should be utilized by man to educate himself in better ways to live.

The major stated that in the near future atomic energy will replace coal and gas before the supplies of these resources run out. His timely topic was well received by everyone who attended the lecture.

Senators Accuse

temperate language, has characterized as an "untruth" every lapse or conflict of memory in my answers to questions ranging over many years and complicated events—many of them trivial and all of them related to events many years ago. I have nothing to hide and nothing to evade.

Cites Scheme
Lattimore said the subcommittee questioned him "with the obvious intention of artificially creating an impression of untruthfulness or evasion."

The subcommittee said "clearly Mr. Lattimore did, on many occasions, stand in contempt" of the group and that he "took that position voluntarily and intentionally."

McCarren told reporters the subcommittee had discussed whether to ask the Senate to cite Lattimore for contempt, but reached no decision.

The subcommittee has been trying to find out whether the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR), a private research organization of which Lattimore is a trustee, has exerted any subversive influence on official American policy toward the Far East.
